'DELIBERATE' AFFRONT CLERIC TELLS MOTHERS

MARGATE, England (Reuters)—A retired canon of the Church of England today described a possible marriage between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend as "deliberately an affront both to religion and the church."

Canon C. T. Kirtland, 68, made the statement before 1,800 members of the Mothers' Union, a church organization, at their annual convention here.

Answering written questions, he picked up one about the princess' reported romance and declared:

"I would yield to no one in my loyalty to the Queen and the Royal Family. I think my feeling about the whole thing is one of profound sorrow."

"Here is somebody who is very dear to our hearts. Here she contemplates doing something which is deliberately an affront both to religion and the church."

"I do not see what line the church can take. The less we gossip about it the better."

Margaret Again Partners Peter

Dinner-Date Tonight Confirms
Townsend Is Princess' Beau

(UP and CP Dispatches)

LONDON—Princess Margaret, disregarding criticism by Anglican clergymen, went off to dine with Peter Townsend again tonight after their return from a week-end in Windsor.

The princess met Townsend for dinner at the Victoria Road home of one of her former escorts, Mark Bonham Carter.

The action seemed to make it doubly plain that the dashing airman is Margaret's steady beau.

The princess motored at noon today to Clarence House from the 20-room house in Windsor forest where she and Townsend were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wills. Mrs. Wills is the daughter of Lady Elphinstone, sister of the Queen Mother.

A photograph taken of Margaret just after she had said goodbye to Townsend caused widespread comment. Her face was sad and pensive—her tears, many thought.

Unsmiling Princess Ignores Crowd

It was a stern, unsmiling princess who whisked into Clarence House in the big limousine after a 20-mile drive from the country. She made no acknowledgment to the waving crowd of about 300 persons clustered outside the house. Inside her mother awaited her, having arrived earlier from Windsor.

Townsend, after his usual morning gallop on horseback, told reporters today that he had a "very nice" week-end.

And that was the closest anyone came to an authoritative statement on the plans of the 40-year-old ex-fighter pilot and the princess whose attachment, complicated by apparent religious and constitutional obstacles, has caused a world to wonder. Townsend remained at the Wills home for two hours after Margaret left. Then he drove out of the lodge and headed for London and his flat at the home of the Marquis of Avergheny in Lowndes square.

One common interpretation of the week-end rendezvous was that it had been planned some time ago as a means whereby Margaret could decide whether her liking for Townsend, a divorced commoner with two sons approaching high school age, is strong enough to overcome all obstacles.

The absence of any official statement about Margaret's plans—beyond last Friday's announcement that no such word would be forthcoming—"at present"—stimulated much speculation. Some newspapers said the romance was on but at least one thought it might be off.

'Will Not End Way You Think'

The Associated Press reported that the Duke of Edinburgh is advising strongly against the marriage, and quoted one London newspaper as saying that Princess Marie Louise, 83-year-old granddaughter of Queen Victoria, had declared such a marriage unthinkable.

The mass-circulation Sunday newspaper "The People" quoted "friends in the court circle" as saying the week-end meeting was "nothing more than a royal way of enabling her to say goodbye to an old friend of the family."

In Copenhagen, Reuters news agency quoted "independent newspaper information" that King Frederik of Denmark had said "the Princess Margaret-Peter Townsend affair... will not end in the way you think."

The king was said to have made the remark to a reporter after the departure of the Duke of Edinburgh, who visited Denmark on his way to Germany to present colors to Canadian troops.

In Britain there are conflicting opinions on whether the constitutional objections really are valid.

If Margaret sought to overcome constitutional barriers by renouncing her rights to the succession—she is third in line after Prince Charles and Princess Anne—it is thought other difficulties would arise. Some experts say intricate legislation would be required in all Commonwealth countries, including Canada.

Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's Peerage and an authority on precedent, said today that as far as he knows no living person has renounced succession to the throne on marriage.

cameras trained on them by press photographers.

Later they could be seen on a rose-entwined terrace where they played with a small dog. Margaret wore a three-quarter-length brown coat. Townsend was informal in a black sweater and grey trousers.

As the bright fall sunshine faded and a chill breeze came upon them, they went slowly into the and oblivious to long-range

VICTORIA FISHBOAT FEARED SUNK

SOS Sparks Hunt
Near Port Alberni

A Victoria registered fishing vessel is missing and believed sunk off Bajo Point, 150 miles north of Port Alberni.

Mystery surrounds the fate of those on board as an RCAF air-sea rescue plane combed the area for signs of wreckage or survivors.

It is not known how many were on board. The ship, believed to be the "A.E.H." sent a "mayday" call at 7 p.m. Sunday, saying "we are abandoning ship off Bajo Reef."

The call did not give the name of the vessel or the reason for the distress call. But the B.C. Packers' fishpacker Dinty Moore reported seeing the A.E.H. in the vicinity about 4 p.m. Sunday. Water was calm at the time, with fog patches.

FROM CEEPEECE

The registry of Canadian shipping lists the A.E.H. as a Victoria-registered vessel, owned by Hugh Gordon, fisherman, who lives at Ceepeece.

The RCAF search plane, a Canso amphibian, searched the area Sunday evening until fog closed in. The plane resumed the search at 10 a.m. today.

The Canadian government lighthouse, tender Estevan, based at Victoria, also picked up the "mayday" message and relayed it to Air-Sea Rescue in Vancouver.

Reports that wreckage had been sighted in the area by the Dinty Moore have not been confirmed.

The A.E.H. is equipped with radio telephone, but shore stations have not been able to receive her since the distress call at 7 p.m.

MARKED CONTRAST

As Margaret's limousine swept through the gates to the country house, the assembled press—scores of reporters and photographers from newspapers and agencies throughout the world—looked serious.

They reported her strained appearance was in marked contrast to her smiles when she set out for church two hours before.

Local sources in touch with the Wills household said the princess spent a long time Saturday night playing the piano to the group captain and her host—light classical and popular music.

Parks 'Give Away' Plan Draws Fire on Mayor

Harrison's Action By-Passes Council Aldermen Claim

Strong protest today followed Mayor Claude L. Harrison's announcement on Saturday he had offered the provincial government city-owned Goldstream Park and Elk Lake on condition they be developed as beach areas.

The protests came from city alderman and ex-alderman Percy Scourrah who is opposing Mayor Harrison in his move for a third term in the December mayoralty.

They condemned the mayor for opening negotiations with the provincial park service without first obtaining sanction from city council.

WHAT AUTHORITY?

"Where does he get authority to offer property without consulting council first?" asked Mr. Scourrah.

He also asked "why the turnabout" in the mayor's actions.

He said that in 1951 a council committee had arrived at an agreement whereby the government would take over Goldstream Park and make it a class A provincial park.

"At that time he raised a terrible row, saying that we were giving away assets without safeguards."

Ald. Austin Curtis said the Elk Lake land in particular is valuable.

"I'm in favor of getting rid of property outside the city, but I'm not in favor of giving it away. He's gone ahead on his own. He hasn't asked council. I would oppose it in council."

Ald. Arthur Dowell said there's no question Elk Lake would be beautiful if developed but "I'm surprised an announcement like this would be made before it was discussed in council."

MORE TO IT

"He's hoping to swing council, he's done it before," said Ald. Robert Macmillan. "I don't think it's a straight give-away. He's probably getting more than at present meets the eye."

Ald. M. H. Mooney: "It can't be done without going through council. I'm not interested in giving Elk Lake away unless we get a promise of development. It would then benefit all the people in the province. I don't think Victoria should be paying taxes to make parks for the rest of the province."

Members of Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, said his group is currently involved in a development plan.

"I was surprised at the announcement," he said.

FEELER
Mayor Harrison said the letter to the government was just a feeler.

"It was just a suggestion that they might like to have it. If they don't we'll go on with it (the park development) ourselves."

He said the transfer of the park would not likely mean a forced removal of premises owned by Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association at Goldstream... "although their lease is expired."

He said a game club official, Gordon Sword, had written to him approving of the development of the area as a public park.

The mayor said he had opposed a similar move by council in 1951 because the deal then under negotiation did not take in the foreshore, which he thinks will require most development.

Floods Slowly Recede, Leaving At Least 48 Dead

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Flood waters of scores of streams in seven northeastern states began slowly to recede today, leaving in their wake a mounting toll of dead and missing and damage that may total more than a half billion dollars. The latest survey showed at least 48 dead in the flood-ravaged area stretching from Maine to Pennsylvania where a similar disaster struck only one month ago. An estimated 25,000 persons were homeless and thousands were idled when industries, either inundated or without power, were forced to shut down.

Rain, which had fallen for four days, continued to pelt down on the stricken area and the Boston weather bureau saw no respite from the cloudy skies until Wednesday. However, the weather bureau said swollen streams are slowly receding and will continue to do so.

RAIN FORECAST

Its forecast said that rainfall today and Tuesday would measure one to two inches or more and that if such a fall developed in eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island there might be further rises in streams in that area.

Connecticut, which bore the brunt of the August floods, was hardest hit by the newest disaster, especially the eastern coastal area of the state where hundreds of homes and industries were inundated.

Bilateral negotiations had enabled a substantial contribution to be made to welfare and prosperity in south and southeast Asia. Uncertainties still existed and heavy tasks remained, but steady progress had been achieved in "prompting human well-being."

"I'm certain that history will record that the Colombo plan has made a significant and lasting contribution to the economic welfare of south and southeast Asia," Pearson said.

Colombo Plan Delegates Cheer Pearson, Canada's Contribution

By C. R. BLACKBURN

SINGAPORE (CP)—Canada's L. B. Pearson was applauded today at the opening session of the Colombo plan conference when he said his country had been proud to contribute in the past to the plan for aiding under-developed Asian areas, and would want to continue its participation.

The "unique venture" has been successful since its inception at a Commonwealth conference in the Ceylon capital in 1951, and would be more successful in the future.

The Canadian external affairs minister was the second speaker at the committee conference.

The meeting will decide the future of the plan, and the decision is certain to be its continuation with the same—or probably larger—contributions and some additional aids such as Canada's gift of an NRX reactor to India.

Pearson said events since the plan began had probably exceeded the expectations even of its most confident supporters.

But he reminded the ministers: "We should not forget that our ways of living, the systems of society which we have chosen, must in order to develop, or even to survive, prove their spiritual values as well as their material effectiveness."

Canadians, though far from south and southeast Asia, liked to feel that their experience in economic and political development—from a colony by evolution to a state within a Commonwealth—based on more than one race—was not too different from those which faced many countries in the Colombo plan area.

Bilateral negotiations had enabled a substantial contribution to be made to welfare and prosperity in south and southeast Asia. Uncertainties still existed and heavy tasks remained, but steady progress had been achieved in "prompting human well-being."

"I'm certain that history will record that the Colombo plan has made a significant and lasting contribution to the economic welfare of south and southeast Asia," Pearson said.

347,000 SEE GRAHAM IN ACTION AT TORONTO

TORONTO (CP)—In the sawdust of the Coliseum there are many footprints. Above the rows of empty chairs a placard reads: "I am the way, the truth and the life."

In the last four weeks, 347,000 persons have read that text, as they watched evangelist Billy Graham and listened to his sermons.

Inspired by his appeal, 7,288 converts have filed forward, through the dusty aisles to the foot of his platform in the Canadian National Exhibition Coliseum.

Now the Graham crusade is over. It ended Sunday in pouring rain, which 27,000 people ignored to push for seats or standing room.

Troops Await Colors Shivering; Duke Late

SOEST, Germany (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh stood coolly in hail and driving rain for 30 minutes today at nearby Fort York to present colors to the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment.

The duke flew from an RAF base at Guetersloh, about 80 miles from here, after arriving from an official visit to Denmark.

He apologized to the 400 officers and men who had been waiting on the freezing cold parade ground for 90 minutes for his arrival, delayed by bad weather.

The 60-man regimental band, brought from Canada for the occasion, and the battalion's corps of drums stood shivering in their tropical-style pith helmets and scarlet tunics with blue trousers—a traditional uniform dating from the Boer war.

FIRST VISIT TO REGIMENT

It was the duke's first meeting with the regiment. The Queen appointed him colonel-in-chief last year.

For the first time too, he was wearing his blue uniform. About 5,000 soldiers and their families from all the units of the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade group stationed in the area watched the parade.

The 2nd battalion will be replaced by the 1st battalion, which comes out from regimental headquarters at London, Ontario.

The regiment's commanding officer is Lt. Col. G. C. Gorbould of Bella Coola, B.C.

Famed White Heather Group To Give Two Shows at Royal

A sextette of famous Scottish concert artists will entertain here this week when the White Heather show returns to the Royal Victoria Theatre.

The group will give two performances, Wednesday and Thursday, under sponsorship of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society.

Directed by Neil Kirk, the White Heather group returns with favorites of past years—Robert Wilson, making his fifth visit here as the "Voice of Scotland"; humorist

Jack Anthony and comedienne Bertha Riccardo; soprano Margaret Mitchell; emcee Jimmy Neil, and piano expert, Tammas Fisher.

New, and replacing this year the renowned Will Starr, is Jimmy Shand, also a solo accordionist and dance band leader, whose recordings are well known on both sides of the Atlantic.

Again this year, special arrangements are being made by Scots throughout the lower island to attend the show. A full house has become as much a tradition when the White Heather group plays the Royal, as audience participation in the songs of Scotland.

Box office is open daily at Kents Ltd., Fort Street.

An overflow crowd Sunday night in Metropolitan United Church heard evangelist Rev. Robert Cunningham urge increased dedication of personal lives to Christ.

More than 1,500 persons filled the church proper and overflowed into the Sunday school hall adjacent.

The dramatic and fiery speaker used as his text "I believe, help Thou my unbelief." Mr. Cunningham's sermon theme was that relationship with God was one of personal commitment, and that for salvation all must reach this point.

Mr. Cunningham, pastor of St. Andrew's-Wesley Church, Vancouver, speaks here at 7.30 p.m. daily through Friday at Metropolitan. GAZA GUNFIRE INVOLVES UN TRUCE TEAM

CAIRO (UP)—A military spokesman said today an Israeli force crossed the border into Egypt and was driven off by Egyptian gunfire Sunday.

The spokesman said the Israeli force approached the border from the El Ajia demilitarized zone, accompanied by two United Nations truce cars, and ignored an Egyptian warning to stop.

The spokesman said an Egyptian outpost opened fire after the Israeli force crossed the border. The Israelis were forced to withdraw, he said.

Country-Wide Strike Hits Westinghouse

PITTSBURGH (CP)—The International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) early today began a national strike against Westinghouse Electric Corp.

At a little past midnight, local time, strike deadline Sunday night, an IUE spokesman declared: "The strike is on."

The strike call came as negotiators for the company and union remained closeted in an attempt to resolve a contract dispute.

Union officials had sent out strike instructions earlier to some 44,000 members in 29 Westinghouse plants.

Placard-carrying pickets were on hand at the big East Pittsburgh plant as the strike hour rolled around and immediately took up their posts.

Real effect of the strike was not expected to be felt until later in the morning when most of the plants resume operations following the week-end.

James B. Carey, international president of the IUE, turned down a proposal by the company calling for a two-week extension of the strike deadline.

The Westinghouse proposal said any wage increase would be retroactive to Oct. 15. It also offered to include a contract clause providing for arbitration of disputes for the first time in its relations with the IUE.

Russian UN Underling Shoots Self

NEW YORK (AP)—A puzzling sequence of events surrounds the gunshot death of a clerk in the Russian United Nations delegation headquarters here.

Police said the clerk, Alexei Minaev, 42, committed suicide Saturday by shooting himself through the head.

But they offered no explanation of why Soviet officials postponed notifying them of the death until six hours after it occurred, or why no police report of the case was made for another three hours.

Lieut. Edward McCarthy, squad commander of the station house which first heard of the shooting by telephone, said he was not at liberty to disclose who made the call.

At the Russian delegation headquarters, reporters encountered silence.

The time of the death was listed by police at about 4 p.m. Saturday. They said they were first notified about 10 p.m.

TERMED SUICIDE

Dr. Milton Helsen, New York's chief police medical examiner, said he found Minaev dead in a fourth-floor office of the headquarters building. He had been shot in the roof of the mouth with a .45-calibre Russian automatic.

Later, after an autopsy at Bellevue Hospital morgue, Dr. Helsen's report said it was a clear case of suicide.

Minaev apparently was an obscure clerk. His name was unknown in United Nations diplomatic circles. Police said their information was that he came here 10 months ago, and that he had been "despondent." There was no elaboration on this point.

Stalled Auto Wrecks Train

Freak Mishap Injures 40 On Toronto-Montreal Express

RIVIERE BEAUDETTE, Que. (CP)—A highballing Toronto-Montreal passenger train smashed into a stalled car at a level crossing here Sunday night and sent nine cars spewing crazily off the track.

Provincial police estimated the number of injured at 40 but only about half of these required hospital treatment. Eight were detained in hospital at Valleyfield, Que., and another two at Cornwall, Ont.

Passengers who hopped their way out of overturned coaches with axes agreed it was "a miracle" no one was killed. One car overturned completely and came to rest on its roof. Another crashed on its side while the other seven teetered at weird angles beside the track.

MCGILL MEN ABOARD

Among the CNR-CPR pool train's passengers were several McGill University students returning from the Saturday football game against Toronto Varsity.

They were seated in two of the six cars that remained upright after the crash. The engine also "held the track," grinding to a stop more than a half-mile away from the crash. The three occupants of the car jumped clear before the train struck.

Gerard Sincennes, 25, of Eastview, Ont., a suburb of Ottawa, told police his car stalled just as it reached the crest of the small incline.

COULDN'T MOVE CAR

He looked out and saw the train approaching about a mile away. Sincennes and the other occupants of the car—Fernand Parent, 26, and Jacqueline Carriere, 24, his fiancée, both of Ottawa—tried to push the vehicle across the track but were unable to budge it.

The impact was so great that part of the car remained pasted to the front of the locomotive when it came to a stop. Some 300 yards of track were uprooted as the cars wavered and then plunged off.

Police said a number of passengers were treated on the spot for cuts and bruises by the local druggist, who was called to the scene with first-aid supplies. They were then loaded aboard a

The award will consist of an honorarium of $10,000 and a symbolic town crier's bell. Churchill will receive the gifts at a ceremony to be held in London, probably in December.

Lining Up the Candidates

UNTIL MR. EISENHOWER FELL ill the future of American politics for the next five years seemed to be easily calculable in advance. The President, it was generally assumed in Washington, would run again, would be re-elected and would maintain those great policies of international co-operation which have so profoundly affected the whole world.

That future is no longer calculable. The election a year hence now seems to be one of the most doubtful in American history.

In the expectation that Mr. Eisenhower will retire at the end of his present term the pursuit of the presidential nomination in both parties has become a wide-open struggle, both of personalities and policies, which will continue with increasing vehemence until next summer's conventions.

So long as Mr. Eisenhower seemed definitely in the running the Democratic nomination was more a duty to be performed than a prize to be won. Now it is a great prize and many men are eager to grasp it.

No longer can Mr. Adlai Stevenson have it for the asking. He must meet powerful opposition in the convention, probably from Mr. Harriman, among others. The New York governor, a Democrat of unequalled experience in national government and especially in foreign affairs, announced his support of Mr. Stevenson long ago but now appears willing to accept the party leadership if it is offered. Other prominent Democratic politicians like Mr. Kefauver also are willing and eager. There will be no shortage of candidates.

The Republican Party has become so completely dependent upon the magic of its leader that, at first sight, it cannot hope to win without him. Only last year the Republicans lost control of the Congress despite Mr. Eisenhower's active campaign on the hustings. But they still have high hopes, concentrated on the popular chief justice of the Supreme Court.

If Mr. Warren can be persuaded to leave the bench and return to politics he will be a formidable candidate indeed. The public opinion polls all indicate that Mr. Stevenson could beat any of the practicing Republican politicians except Mr. Eisenhower but Mr. Warren would bring to the election one of his generation who is not now in politics.

Obviously Mr. Warren does not wish to run. As a jurist he feels that the Supreme Court, even by implication, should not be involved in political debate. Nevertheless, the pressure on him, especially if it comes, as it probably will, from Mr. Eisenhower, may prove irresistible.

Should he refuse, the Republican Party must fall back on candidates like Mr. Nixon, Mr. Stassen and Senator Knowland, who admittedly cannot hope to command the prestige of Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Warren. Unless the polls are completely wrong, none of these gentlemen would be likely to beat Mr. Stevenson.

An election in the world's most powerful state cannot be judged merely in terms of personalities. The important question facing the American people and all their foreign friends is the kind of policy that will emerge from next year's vote.

The policy of a Democratic administration can be foreseen with reasonable clarity. It will be a continuation of the work begun by President Roosevelt in 1933 and carried on by President Truman until 1953. There is no such certainty about a Republican Party without Mr. Eisenhower.

It is sometimes forgotten now that Mr. Eisenhower entered politics to prevent the Republican Party from falling into the hands of the old guard, the remaining isolationists and what was called the Taft wing. The President defeated those forces but he has not extinguished them. They will see in his retirement their chance to recapture the Party and reorient its policy.

While all this is entirely the business of the American people, no foreign nation, least of all Canada, can escape the results of the struggle now under way between the parties and within them.

Smiles and Deeds

THERE HAS BEEN CONSIDERABLE speculation as to the motives of the Soviet Union in its current campaign of smiles and concessions. The smiles, as Mr. Khrushchev insists, are genuine, and the concessions may well be too. But it is notable that recent Moscow moves toward appeasing the West have not been without their definite advantages to Russia.

The Winnipeg Free Press describes the process as "shedding former assets which had become liabilities." Under this heading would come the return of German war prisoners to their homes. During the Stalin regime these men had value as slave labor; now they have greater value as pawns in Russia's effort to win friends and influence people in West Germany.

When West Germany was unrecognized by Moscow and East Germany was just a satellite—as it still is—whose opinion did it matter much, mere humanitarian considerations were not enough to win the prisoners their freedom.

In the same way, the settlement with Austria enhanced Russia's position far beyond what could be gained by continuing to stalemate the peace treaty. Continued Soviet occupation of Austria detracted from the atmosphere the new Kremlin regime was attempting to create. The gain derived from a quick and graceful exit—after a ten-year wait—was greater than that to be obtained from the increasingly untenable and costly position in Vienna.

Russia benefited by the restoration of contacts with Yugoslavia, despite what many observers in the West saw as a loss of face. By cancelling a large portion of the Yugoslav debt to Russia and arranging easy terms for the rest of it, the Bulgarian Government has re-established links with Belgrade which, while a far cry from the original relationship which proved intolerable to Marshal Tito, still help to reinforce the communist hold on eastern Europe.

Finland, too, will have a less hostile view of Russia now that return of the Porkkala base is assured. Since the cold war is now a matter of influence and diplomacy rather than naked military strength—although the strength must still be in the background—the loss of the base to Russia is far less than the gain in good will and the creation of an example of magnanimity to which the Kremlin can point.

Continued over a period of months or years such a calculated policy is bound to have effects. Each incident will be a benefit to the world at large, no doubt, but it will carry no guarantee that the basic ideas behind the smiling Russian visage have changed. And the cumulative effect may be to force the Western powers into matching acts of virtue. Of these an abandonment of Washington's rejection of Red China might well be one of the chief prizes sought by Russia.

Now Who Can't Read?

IN HIS SERIES "WHY JOHNNY Can't Read" Dr. Rudolf Flesch drew interesting comparisons between students from other countries and those of the United States.

"If you assume," he said, "that a foreign student is about two years ahead of a United States student his age, you are usually just about right."

The reason? Dr. Flesch attributes it to reading facility.

"We (in the U.S.) take about two years longer to learn how to read," he contends. Hence progress is retarded that much. And in Britain, reading, he says, is taught earlier than in other countries he mentions.

The logic of Dr. Flesch's argument is now confronted by a statement by H. E. Harding, Dean of the Westminster Medical School, London, who says many candidates applying to study medicine use English so bad that "it borders on illiteracy." W. F. Gunn, secretary of King's College Hospital medical school comments on improper spelling and remarks that those who can't spell should have the intelligence to use a dictionary.

The opinion is not an isolated one held by the two British officials. Nor does it reflect lack of knowledge of basic sciences or generally good scholarship, say other authorities. But if the viewpoints of Dr. Flesch and those of English medical school authorities are correlated, it appears that American students are just about two years behind a standard which "borders on illiteracy."

All of which makes interesting reading when the World Almanac places the United States literacy rate at 97.5 per cent. Somebody, it seems, is exaggerating.

The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I SEE in the New York Herald Tribune that a Chicago firm will be marketing an edible Christmas card, made of milk chocolate. That's nice. Brown isn't always a very Christmassy color, maybe. Still, turkeys are cooked fairly brown, and plum puddings don't need to be pitch black. And many cakes and cookies and drinks are brown. No brown is a very Christmassy color at that. And on Boxing Day most people feel a little browned-off, except for the office party people, who feel browned-off a day earlier... if office parties still survive, for they now sound terribly old-fashioned, without the advantage of being traditional.

AN edible Christmas card has several good points. It cannot be glued onto wooden screens, at least not with any satisfaction. I knew a woman who glued old Christmas cards onto wooden screens, and the effect was as terrible to the rest of us as it was satisfactory to her. If we had sent her cards made of chocolate, shredded wheat, macaroons, macaroni, cheese, and so on, her dogs would have eaten any screen she tried to make out of them. (Do you remember the edible car licences in some country or other, a few years ago? The dogs ate them all.) And it would be hard to write letters to the milkman on a Christmas card. I write letters to my milkman all through January and February on old Christmas cards, and this big supply of waste paper tends to make me wordy. The wordier I get, the more tired he becomes, and the more mistakes he keeps making, leading to more notes from me... a vicious circle. Chocolate cards would obviate this little nuisance. Milk chocolate. Sweets to the sweet and milk to the milk.

ALL the same, I am in favor of a useful card that keeps right on giving. Which means it should stay out of the recipient's stomach. What would you say to a card in the form of a dandy little comb maybe? Or a card that turned out to be a pair of nutcrackers... salted nutcrackers that squirted salt on the nut during the final stages of the cracking? Or a card that was really a medicated piece of cloth with which you could wipe your glasses? Chocolate cards are fine, but remember they are just the beginning.

NO GREAT COMPETITION

IN Arthur Bryant's book on Charles the Second, where there is many a good thing, you will find a record of an acrobat who stood on his head at the very top of church steeples. This accomplishment so pleased His Majesty, he gave the man a royal patent, granting him the exclusive right to stand on his head on steeples. Such a monopoly would not be tolerated today. Today, for example, if anyone wants to imitate Danny Sailer, who stands on his head on top of 100-foot spars-trees, he is entirely free to try it. But there is no ugly rush of competitors.

BRIEFNESS IS ALL

AN essayist over yonder on the main on holiday at the Coast some years ago and was most enthusiastic about it. She had no doubt but that, by now, it would be a firmly established tourist attraction, if not in Vancouver or Victoria, then surely at Duncan, its original stamping ground. To her way of thinking it was a natural as drawing card, with even more reason for its existence than the Shakespearean festival at Stratford which, after all, only had the name of the town as its incentive.

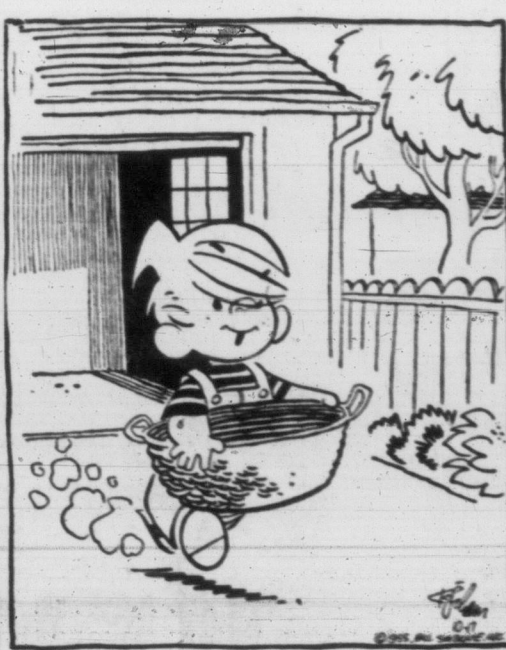

So, I made enquiries of my friends out there and could get very little information, except that they remembered seeing the performances and enjoying them. Beyond that—apathy. I was most disappointed and feel that in spite of OLIVIER, in his recent portrayal of Macbeth, got partly round the difficulty by throwing the first two acts away, hardly acting them at all, and then suddenly awakening himself and the audience and the play. (Awakening is a thing that goes with the play, harping as it does on sleep. It talks of sleep quite as much as about blood.) And I dare say those who saw Olivier's version were full of a certain pity for Macbeth. But I bet they still didn't think it the summit of Shakespeare's art... supposing it is necessary to rank the plays as if one were marking examination papers.

As for brevity and art being symptoms of each other, well, it depends. Italian penmanship has more simplicity and art than the old Gothic hand, but that doesn't mean shorthand is better still. As for tight writing in Macbeth... well, the porter at the gate is tight all right, but his speech is no great sample of art. And as for the play being so very short, how do you know you have the complete version? Take a look at Act Four, scene II. In this scene with Lady MacDuff and her son and Ross, there are hints that some of the play is missing.

YES, and as for theory that all art is a chopping-down-and-leaving-off, a reduction of a stone block into a chiselled sculpture... well, that is one method, but there is also the opposite method of adding little touches, or adding whole handfuls of material, as the modeller in clay adds body to what was once a wire frame. Especially are there these two opposite ways in writing plays. You can think what you like of Eisen as a poet and a man, but he knew the craft of play-making. And almost every touch of genius in his plays was added as an afterthought.

CARE, KINDNESS, COURTESY

I have just been discharged from the Veterans' Hospital where I have been about four and a half months and had two operations. I would like to take the opportunity of thanking everyone on the staff of that institution for the care, kindness and courtesy I received from them.

The nurses are simply Nature's ladies, and the male attendants come in for their share of praise. There are those who assert that it was God who saw me through that trying time. I am ashamed that such mid-wives are members of the human race.

I look upon such an utterance as a gross insult to the doctor (Dr. Huthbert) who successfully carried me through those two operations; such a remark simply implies that it was not the doctor who did the work but some ghost.

LOOKING FOR "TINQUAW"

On a trip to Victoria this summer I had listed as a "must" on my sightseeing objectives an attendance at a performance of Tinquaw, the Indian musical drama.

A friend of mine had seen it while on holiday at the Coast some years ago and was most enthusiastic about it. She had no doubt but that, by now, it would be a firmly established tourist attraction, if not in Vancouver or Victoria, then surely at Duncan, its original stamping ground. To her way of thinking it was a natural as drawing card, with even more reason for its existence than the Shakespearean festival at Stratford which, after all, only had the name of the town as its incentive.

The Smiling Opportunists

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

THE public humiliation of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov undoubtedly means his downgrading, and probably foreshadows his eventual disgrace and dismissal. But after a close study of the facts, the experts have concluded that Molotov's mortification also has a deeper meaning. It means the final triumph of the new Soviet policy of smiling, flexible opportunism over the old Stalinist policy of rigidity and dogma.

As the experts interpret it, a tug of war has been going on in the Kremlin ever since the humiliation and demotion of Georgi Malenkov last February. The contest has been between Molotov, who has fought for the old Stalinist policy, of which he was, after all, part author, and the protagonists of smiling opportunism, mainly party boss Nikita Khrushchev.

The evidence which suggests this conclusion is fairly ample. In his letter which was published a few days ago in the magazine "Kommunist," Molotov confessed to a "theoretically mistaken and politically harmful" error of doctrine. The supposed error was so completely trifling that it was clearly only a transparent excuse for disciplining the Foreign Minister.

But what is significant is that Molotov's heinous doctrinal sin was committed in the speech he made last February 8th on the occasion of Malenkov's downfall.

The February 8th speech was right down the Stalinist line. It repudiated the Malenkov statement that a nuclear war would mean the destruction of communism as well as of capitalism, and it bristled with threats and defiance. Experts in all the Western chancelleries concluded that a return to the rigid Soviet foreign policy of the end of the Stalin era was inevitable.

IMMEDIATE INDICATIONS

But there were immediate indications that the Molotov line was not necessarily the line of all the occupants of the Kremlin.

Khrushchev and Prime Minister Bulganin went out of their way to make reassuring noises. In interviews with William Randolph Hearst Jr. even more significant, when Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito bitterly attacked Molotov's speech, his attack was widely published in the Soviet press, without a word of defence for Molotov.

Western intelligence experts have no doubt at all that Molotov fought hard against the Khrushchev-Bulganin policy of reconciliation with Tito. His defeat on this issue was followed by all sorts of evidence that he was on the downgrade.

He was left out of the delegation that made peace with Tito at Belgrade, his place being taken by "Pravda" editor Dmitri Shepilov. Both at Belgrade and at the Warsaw conference around him were dropped, and duly picked up by the Western intelligence services, that Molotov was on the way out.

signifying trips, rubber-neck waggons and such like commercialized amusement. I feel I have missed something essentially British Columbian, something indigenous to the province itself and to its unique inhabitants—the Indians.

All this came to the fore in my mind again because this week we have had the Black Hills Passion Play, a company of North Dakota players, in Winnipeg. This play has been performed in the Black Hills yearly in the tourist season since 1898. Everywhere such festivals are the current trend. How about it B.C.? Am I to see Tinquaw on my next trip West?

PENSIONER AND BONDS

Writing as an old age pensioner, pondering over the past, with one eye on the future, I feel some concern as I see various features of our economy enigmatically today.

For instance in the Good Book, included in the beatitudes: "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth, which makes me see red when I note Federal Government Bonds all tumbling below par, and they may, like bank stock, be heading lower too.

To my humble way of thinking, our Federal Government should insist that these Federal Bonds should never be quoted below par, even though the interest rate hovers around 3 per cent.

Our chartered banks here need some closer supervision to ensure safe and satisfactory financial service to the people, something lacking in many respects today. Their cartelized control savors of a gumbine.

"TIME OF THE END"

The letter by "Candid" in your issue of Oct. 11, listing the terrible disasters caused by overflowing rivers, tornadoes and earthquakes, really records the fulfilment of Christ Jesus' prophecy of Matthew 24.

There is a very intimate connection between these "acts of God" and Satan the god of this world, or system of things. Revelation 12:12 gives the reason: "Woe for the earth and for the sea, because the Devil has come down to you, having great anger, knowing he has a short period of time."

But Christ Jesus gives cheering words of comfort to his faithful followers, as recorded in Luke 21:28: "But as these things start to occur, raise yourselves erect and lift your heads up, because your deliverance is getting near."

We are and have been since 1914 living in the "time of the end" of the old system of things.

MAN LOCATED

Please accept my thanks for the assistance rendered by your valuable newspaper in enabling my cousin, Herbert Woods, of Hamilton, Ont., to contact myself and brother, CPO W. Woods, through a letter recently published in this column. I would also like to thank all those who telephoned, especially your newspaper, for the long distance call to me.

JAMES WOODS,
Fanny Bay, B.C.

Joseph

He played a minor role at Geneva, and again at the Moscow meeting with German Chancellor Adenauer. And in all recent informal contacts with Westerners Molotov has left the talking about foreign policy to the talkative Khrushchev.

Against this background, consider these key words in the little-noticed editorial which accompanied Molotov's letter of confession: "In the field of foreign policy... the separation of theory from practice and attempts to cling to dogma cannot be permitted... the flexibility of our foreign policy has caused the enormous successes for the policy of the Soviet Union... and the relaxation of tensions which has lately been achieved."

These words are a slap in the face for Molotov for clinging to dogma—which really means clinging to the policies of Joseph Stalin. Whatever Molotov's personal fate—and he has remarkable staying powers—the slap in the face means the shaking off of the last traces of Stalinist rigidity, and the final adoption of Khrushchev's policy of smiling opportunism.

It was not Molotov, after all, but Khrushchev's protégé Shepilov, who made the carefully planned approach to Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser which has led to the Soviet-Egyptian arms deal. The deal is no isolated incident, but the beginning of a bold new Soviet policy of using obsolescent arms to stir up trouble and otherwise serve Soviet ends all over the world.

Stalinist dogma ruled out the delivery of arms to such "running dogs of the imperialists" as the Egyptians, Syrians and Saudi Arabians. Stalinist dogma also ruled out neutralism which has proved such a boon to Soviet policy—Indian Premier Nehru, after all, was another "running dog of the imperialists" in Stalin's day. And smiling opportunism has indeed already achieved "enormous success," including the loosening of the cement in the whole Western alliance. So perhaps the mortification of Molotov is not such good news after all.

'Repose and Patience'

IF I were a portrait painter, I'd paint the child I saw at the Crystal Garden not so very long ago. I'd try to give the portrait a Little Girl-Lost quality. I'd call it Patience, or some such name as that.

She was about thirteen, I guess—still slight and undeveloped.

I saw her sitting on one of the green benches by the stairs. She'd just been swimming, I gathered, because the tips of her hair, straight hair were damp where they turned up slightly on her shoulders. Her hair was very fine and very straight. She wore it drawn back from her face and held by a black ribbon round her head. Alice-in-Wonderland—Tenniel's—is the way I think of it.

Lying smooth and soft, it showed the shape of her head. It exactly suited her gravely gentle face.

Her face was too pale for fashionable beauty, though it looked a healthy pallor. Her cheeks were round and young beneath the lovely curve of high cheek bone. Her mouth was sweet and generous. Her eyes were steady though I didn't note the color.

Her skirt was a cherry-colored shade and the jacket was white.

It was a made-over skirt, I think, and, just on the right-hand pocket, the cherry-colored thread must have run out for she had about twenty stitches of white. This pocket was made of two pieces. But the other pocket was made of one. One of those dressmaking jobs where the material is just not quite enough! It was, perhaps, an old coat, cut down, or some garment of her mother's.

The jacket was home-made, too, I'm sure. It was snowy-white, and, at casual glance, it looked quite new. But the cuffs were getting a wee bit shabby. Not frayed, but wearing a little thin.

(And I don't know how other mothers feel, but these are the bravely shabby little touches that really do fill me with tenderness).

She had her swimming things in a brownish bag of silky, corded stuff, of which I do not know the proper name.

When first I saw her, she was sitting with her hands clasped loosely on the brownish bag with the golden draw-string.

She was sitting very quietly with an air of infinite patience and repose.

To me, she looked like a European child and not a North American at all. And I was suddenly reminded of the charming film of "Lili," and of an immigrant girl I saw years ago sitting with her bundle in the marbled halls of the CPR station at Toronto.

I can't possibly catch her in words. Only a painted portrait would do it.

But I can see a lovely painting of a fair-haired child with an Alice-in-Wonderland look. I can see the color of it all, and the air of patient but happy repose.

I'd like to see her painted as she was when I had to leave. Her chin was on her hand, her elbow was resting on the fat brown bag, and she was looking dreamily into the distance while her two younger sisters chattered and giggled and licked their ice cream cones.

She didn't look unhappy. She was simply quiet and young and serene.

If you really want to know, she gave me quite a shock. I'd begun to think they didn't come that way any more.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Pain in the Chest Wall

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many women come, thinking they have a cancer of the breast when actually all they have is much soreness in part of a rib or in the cartilages which unite the end of the ribs to the breast-bone. Such soreness of the cartilage and the ribs and the little joints between them is doubtless related to arthritis. It comes in arthritic persons. Such pains in the chest wall are exceedingly common. I myself have suffered from them throughout my life; sometimes they are knife-like jabs, and at other times they are dull aches. On rare occasions I feel what I think is a cramp in one of the muscles that connect the ribs together. Many a time I have been very thankful that I am a physician and hence can be sure that a severe chest pain is in the muscular or bony wall. If I were not a physician, possessed of this knowledge, I would think I was having a heart attack, and then I might become a hypochondriac, feeling my pulse every half-hour, and going often to have an electrocardiogram made.

The important point for the layman to not is that, with pains due to arthritis or fibrositis either in the chest wall, or in the joints between the end of two of the lower ribs, or in the joints between the spinal column and the ribs, the distress is lessened by movement and by walking around, and it is made worse by sitting or lying down. Often in the office I make the diagnosis in a moment as my patient gets up from the chair at the end of a half-hour's interview. He or she will then walk stiffly or will limp for a minute. This shows there is some arthritis or fibrositis around the knee joints or in the hip joints or the joints of the spine. Another indication that a chest pain is arising in the wall is the fact that the soaking of the body for 20 minutes in a hot tub will give much relief. Expert massage can also help.

Pain which really is arising in the heart comes when the person tries to walk fast or to go up a ramp, or upstairs. Such pain is particularly likely to come in winter, after breakfast, when the stomach is full, and when the person is walking into a cold wind. Such a pain generally stops a man; he leans up against a building for two or three minutes; then the pain is gone, and he can walk on again. This is the typical story of angina pectoris, a disease in which one of the two main arteries of the heart is so narrowed that it can carry enough blood only for a person who is quiet.

LONELINESS OF THE AGED

One of the tragedies of life is that many an old person is left so alone. Gradually, through his 50's and 60's, the friends of his youth drop away. This is sad, but what is even more sad is that he does not find new and younger friends to take the place of the old ones. Sad is the fact, also, that many an elderly person is shunned and avoided, either because his conversation is so dull, or else because there is so much of it. Many old people talk without stopping; they do not let others break in. This might be bad enough if their conversation were very interesting and instructive and full of fun, but so often all an old person talks about is past unhappiness and disaster and misfortune and the thanklessness of friends and children. The old person's memory for recent events fails, and this adds to his tendency to live in the past. His memory of the events of his youth may still be photographic, but a veteran of the Spanish War is likely to forget that, for several days, he has been telling his son-in-law the same story of that charge up San Juan Hill.

One of the best things an aging person can do is to keep studying, and reading good books and journals. If he keeps filling his mind with interesting material, and if he talks of that, his friends will continue to enjoy him and his conversation. Another good thing to do is to keep cultivating the friendship of young people.

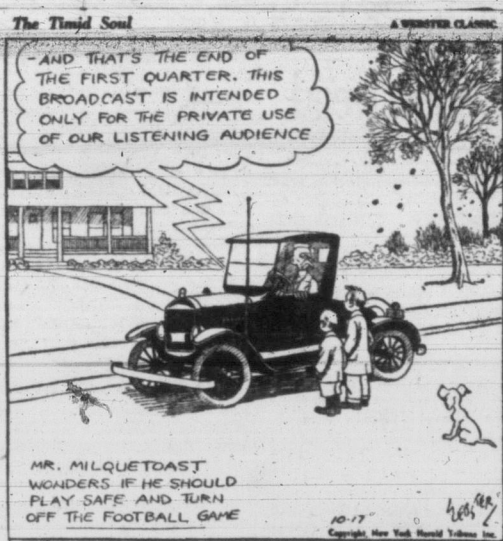

Recently, I ran onto an interesting article by Dr. L. C. Strong (Yale Journal of Biology and Medicine, Nov. 1952), in which he quoted a chapter from a remarkable book written in 1620 by a young Englishman, named Owen Feltham. Feltham wrote on "The Misery of Being Old and Ignorant." As he said, it is bad enough to be old, but if, as one grows old, one lets oneself grow ignorant, one is going to become very lonely.

As Feltham said, the old person who loves to read, and knows how to choose well the books he is to read, will never be lonely; he will always be in the company of the great; and his knowledge "will make him not unpleasing to the young."

I am reminded of what that great man, David Starr Jordan, of Stanford, said long ago on the occasion of my graduation from high school, in Honolulu. He said that since, through the years, a man must live with himself most of the time, he had better early see to it that he so develops his mind, and enriches it with knowledge, that he will always be good company for himself.

What's Your Opinion?

By AB KENT and IRVING STRICKLAND

Do you think the metropolitan system for Greater Victoria, as discussed before the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention, would be a sensible and workable arrangement?

M. G. Grant, 4141 Glendenning, butcher:

"Yes, I think I would favor the metropolitan system of government; I'm sure it could be worked out. I think once the system got rolling, taxation would be less than it is now."

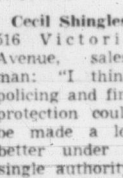

Mrs. Barbara Hindson, 2525

Estevan, shopkeeper: "I would not favor such a system. I like the way Oak Bay, for instance, is run now. A large amount of individuality or autonomy would be lost. Besides, the aldermen in Victoria can't get along as it is."

Rod Smelser, 2517 Estevan, cafe proprietor: "I don't know if taxes would rise, but undoubtedly there are services now duplicated which would be placed under one authority. It's one of those things that will come about eventually, perhaps."

Cecil Shingles, 516 Victoria Avenue, salesman: "I think policing and fire protection could be made a lot better under a single authority. We could have a bigger protection force."

Licence Lack Brings Fines

Fines of $10 each were imposed on two men and their employers in Colwood RCMP court Saturday on charges involving no chauffeurs licences.

Allan Theodore Eddy, Box 54, Glen Lake, and Michael Tabutin were fined on charges of driving commercial vehicles without chauffeurs licences.

Smith Bros. Foundry Ltd., 632 Pembroke, and Fred Staverman, 914 Island Highway, were charged with allowing persons without chauffeurs licences to drive.

5 Esquimalt Land To Be Bought By School Board

Greater Victoria School Board will buy or expropriate portions of several lots which adjoin Esquimalt High School as part of an expansion program.

Tenders are expected to be called soon by architects James Polson and Siddall for the extensions which have been estimated to cost $50,000.

The board also made allowance in estimates for a $12,900 land purchase and $6,000 for new furnishings.

Two old one-storey houses are located on property required by the board. One of them was the home of Thomas Bayley, 65, who was found dead there recently. It was the same house in which he was born.

The remainder of the land required is expected to comprise the back portions of lots facing on Esquimalt Road.

It is expected all the necessary land will be transferred by negotiation, but in case of dispute on price, arbitrators will be appointed to determine fair compensation and the land will be expropriated under the "Public Schools Act."

Chamber Group Proposes Parking Body

Establishment of a parking authority in Victoria with power to issue revenue bonds, acquire property and operate parking facilities is proposed by a sub-committee on traffic of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

In a brief to be submitted to the chambers civic group today, it is pointed out that some cities, comparable in size to Victoria, have a parking authority.

Mentioned, as examples, are Wilmington, Delaware (population 110,000), Little Rock, Arkansas (102,000) and Knoxville, Tennessee (124,000).

"It is not to be expected that such a major step could be implemented immediately in Victoria," the brief says, "but each move should be towards it."

If approved by the chamber's civic group and the chambers directors, the parking proposal will be placed before the city council.

ROYAL JOB RUINED HOME

Townsend's Ex-Wife Happy in New Life

By FERN RICH

PLAXTOL, England (Reuters)—Mrs. Rosemary de Laszlo, the first Mrs. Peter Townsend, has all but forgotten the 11 years she spent as the wife of the airman who rose to be equerry to King George VI.

She married again, two months after the handsome group captain divorced her in December, 1952, and turned her back forever on the days in Adelaide cottage, the house which the late King gave to the Townsends.

She and export merchant John A. de Laszlo, Townsend's two boys, and a new baby daughter, lead a happy, ordinary life in this quiet Kent village.

The Townsends were divorced not quite three years ago on the grounds of Mrs. Townsend's misconduct with de Laszlo. The suit was undefended, and de Laszlo was ordered to pay the costs.

ALWAYS ON MOVE

The divorce ended 11 years of a marriage, contracted during the turbulent war years.

Townsend met Cecil Rosemary Pawle at one of the sherry parties which her father, a brigadier, used to give for young officers. They were married in 1941.

Because of the war the airman and his young wife were constantly on the move.

Rosemary followed Townsend from station to station. For a while she lived with relatives.

Finally Townsend's brilliant wartime record won him the attention of the King who honored the flier with the post of equerry.

By that time—their first son, Giles, was born and the thought of security at last was a dream come true for the couple.

TOWNSEND KEPT BUSY

The King gave them Adelaide cottage to live in—their first real home. Another son, Hugo, was born, and King George said he would be godfather.

The ailing King had come to rely on his equerry more and more. Peter, handsome and popular, was kept busy at the royal court. As an equerry he was at the Royal family's beck and call.

night after night shining in titled society.

His duties kept him so busy he seldom had time to look in at Adelaide cottage. When holiday time came, Rosemary went off to France with the boys and a nursemaid and spent quiet, lonely holidays painting landscapes.

Eventually she found her own circle of friends—one of them John de Laszlo, whom she married after Townsend divorced her.

World Airline Group Bids Reds 'Come on in'

NEW YORK (AP)—The incoming and outgoing presidents of the International Air Transport Association today invited Russia to enter the world airline organization.

The invitations came from Juan Trippe, president of Pan American World Airways, the new IATA chief, and from the retiring president, Max Hymans, president of Air France.

But their welcome was tempered by a reminder from chairman Ross Rizley of the United States civil aeronautics board to the airlines that only their governments can permit their expansion along the Iron Curtain airways.

Rizley acted as official U.S. spokesman.

"Only governments can properly negotiate for the expansion of your operations," he said. "It is fitting that governments fill such roles without interfering unduly with your management, judgment and flexibility."

Trippe said that although the Czechoslovakian and Polish airlines long have been members of IATA, "Aeroflot, the Soviet national airline, should also be sitting with us at the IATA conference table."

"F99" ALGAN (PILES) "F99" SULGAN

European Research Scientists Develop New Formula Small Supply Reaches Canadian Market

When Dr. V. Laboratories of Zurich, Switzerland, solved, after ten years of intensive research, the many diversified problems and obstacles that have confronted the processing of two vital substances, an entirely new field of treatment lay at the hands of their research chemists.

Their product, now known under the name of "F 99" have brought about some of the most staggering results in the treatment of certain skin diseases.

Today, and for the first time, people who are troubled with the distressing symptoms associated with hemorrhoids are now able to share the healing and soothing qualities that have been made possible through the intricate processing of Linoleic and Linolenic Acid.

Because supplies of this formula are coming through to Western Canada in limited quantities only, Drug Stores may find it difficult to meet the anticipated demand from their customers. Every effort, nevertheless, is being made to avoid this situation.

"F 99" Algan (ointment in tube with applicator) and "F 99" Sulgan (suppositories) form the newest product on the market today for this specific purpose.

Red Wings Fly Again

Score Two Victories; Howe Takes Point Lead

SUNDAY

Detroit 6, Toronto 0; Boston 4, New York 1
Chicago 2, Montreal 2

SATURDAY

Detroit 4, Chicago 1; Boston 2, Toronto 2
Montreal 4, New York 1

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings finally broke out of their slump. As expected, they did it with vengeance.

Nobody around the National Hockey League figured the Wings could go on losing. They dropped three in a row but came back during the weekend to win two straight.

The Red Wing power machine went into high gear in rolling over the Black Hawks 4-1 at Chicago Saturday and 6-0 against Toronto Maple Leafs at Detroit Sunday night. Veteran right winger Gordie Howe scored four goals as the Wings jumped from last place in the league race into a fourth-place deadlock with New York Rangers.

Montreal Canadiens made it four straight wins as they defeated the Rangers 4-1 in Montreal Saturday. At Toronto, Boston Bruins pulled themselves up to a 2-2 tie with Leafs in the other Saturday game.

HEBENTON SCORES

The Hawks and Canadiens battled to a 2-2 tie in Chicago Sunday while Rangers suffered their second consecutive loss as Bruins dumped them 4-1 at Boston. Former Cougar Andy Hebenton scored for New York.

Howe took over the league's scoring leadership with his pair of goals in each weekend game plus two assists.

Left winger Ted Lindsay, Howe's linemate, and centre Alex Delvecchio scored the other Detroit goals Saturday. Defenceman Frank Martin tallied for Chicago.

FLAREUP AT DETROIT

A crowd of 12,543 saw the first big temper outburst of the season Sunday at Detroit. Bedlam broke loose late in the third period and referee Frank Udvari handed out 74 minutes in penalties as most players got into two flareups.

The Richard brothers went into a goal-scoring act Saturday before 13,697 fans at Montreal. Maurice bagged a pair and his young brother, Henri, counted the first NHL marker of his career. Jackie Leclair scored the other for Montreal and Dave Creighton saved Rangers from being shut out.

Bruins took advantage of a Toronto penalty at 15:06 of the third period Saturday to score two quick goals and earn their tie.

Marcel Bonin halved Toronto's 2-0 lead and Orr Tessier deked the count.

Rookie centre Billy Harris and right winger Ron Stewart scored Toronto's goals.

Sailors Retain Chance For Title

NAVY 16, VAMPIRES 13

Navy edged Vampires, 16-13 in a thriller at Macdonald Park Saturday to keep its hopes alive for catching first-place Drakes in the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League.

Navy is now two points behind the Oak Bay squad. The two teams will meet in the final game of the schedule next Saturday at Macdonald Park.

Vampires turned in their best effort of the season before being downed by the sailors. They outscored Navy, 24-13, and collected 26 first downs to Navy's 21. Navy, however, took control in the passing department, connecting on five passes in 11 tries, to prove the difference. Vampires completed six of 15 attempts.

Quarterback Joe Hornsby threw two touchdown passes to end Ron Young to give Navy an 11-0 lead early in the first quarter. Vampires, fighting back, picked up a single and then sent Charlie Bishop around end for 36 yards to score after recovering a Navy fumble. The convert made the score 11-7 at the end of the first quarter.

Vampires' determination paid off again in the third quarter, when Bishop again went over for the major to give them a 12-11 lead. Following the kick-off, Ricky McVie's long boot into the end zone gave Vamps another point and a 13-11 lead.

A kick attempt that failed proved Vamps' undoing in the final period. Navy took over on the losers' three-yard line and Bob Aiken bulldozed over for the final touchdown. Convert was missed, but the tars held their 16-13 margin until the final whistle.

Campbell's Boat Sinks, To Try Again for Record

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—England's Donald Campbell said today he will try again to crack his world speedboat record on Lake Mead despite a series of bad breaks here which were capped by the sinking of his boat after he failed on a record attempt.

Campbell admittedly was discouraged by troubles which have plagued the jet-propelled Bluebird II since he arrived here last week. He made clear, however, that another attempt will be made to smash his own record of 202.32 miles per hour, "probably in three or four weeks."

The $100,000 Bluebird suffered extensive damage Sunday when it sank in about 60 feet of water as it was being towed into dock following two speed runs on the lake. The Bluebird averaged 153 miles per hour on the runs—147.179 on the first and 162.822 on the second.

Venture Gridders Breeze Into Final

Whip Cadets; B.C. Playoff In Vancouver

Venture 44, Royal Roads 5

By BILL RAYNER

The expected Victoria Junior Canadian Football League battle of the season between HMCS Venture and Royal Roads fizzled out early at HMCS Naden playing field Sunday as Venture swept to a 44-5 victory.

By virtue of its lopsided win, undefeated Venture will travel to Vancouver Oct. 29 to do battle for the B.C. junior football title.

In another one-sided contest Sunday, Oak Bay Drakes moved into third place in the junior circuit by blasting Vampires, 40-11, at Macdonald Park.

Although penalized constantly by the officials for ungentlemanly tactics, Venture scored almost at will against the game but outclassed Royal Roads squad. Venture scored two unconverted touchdowns in each of the four quarters and added two safety touches—for their winning margin. Score at half-time was 22-5.

The sailors started early, Fred Hallas driving over to give them a 5-0 lead. Royal Roads struck back with a brief display of belligerence, rolling 90 yards in 13 plays, to tie the score at 5-5. Binny went for the major.

A safety touch gave Venture a 7-5 lead, and Matheson went around right end to lengthen the margin to 12-5 before the quarter ended. Truran ran for 55 yards on the first play of the second quarter, and Thomas passed from the four to Gibbon for another touchdown. Armstrong then intercepted a Royal Roads pass and went 40 yards to score, making the tally 22-5 at half-time.

Starting the third quarter, Venture scored the first time it got the ball, McIntosh gathering in a 40-yard pass and scampering 25 yards for the major. Hallas scored on a handoff to make it 32-5 entering the final period.

Another safety touch and two quick touchdowns by quarterback Logan late in the game ended the scoring.

DRAKES ROMP

At Macdonald Park, Drakes salted third place away with a 28-0 lead at half-time. Phil Willis opened the scoring in the first quarter for Oak Bay. Smith converted his touchdown for a 6-0 lead and Willie Dawson passed 20 yards to McGhee to make it 11-0.

McDonald scored a major early in the second period and Smith converted to up the margin to 17-0. Hawes recovered a blocked punt for another major and Bill Richardson ended the scoring for the first half by driving over for a touchdown that Smith converted.

Mason went 50 yards around right end for Vampires to put them on the scoreboard for the first time, 28-5, in the third period. McGhee passed to McDonald for 60 yards and a major that Smith converted, to give Drakes a 34-5 margin.

Yan McDougall recovered his own punt to score Vampires' second touchdown, and Longpre passed to Hawes for the Drakes' final major of the game. Convert was good, and the final score read 40-11.

HOAD, ROSEWALL REMAIN AMATEUR

Aussies Reject Pro Net Offer

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Australian Davis Cup players Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall have cabled American tennis promoter Jack Kramer, rejecting offers of more than $50,000 each to become professionals.

A spokesman for Hoad and Rosewall's parents announced this Sunday.

Australians have been waiting anxiously for Hoad and Rosewall to make up their minds about Kramer's offer. The decision was certain to bring a continent-wide sigh of relief.

Chief point in the minds of most Aussies was that if Hoad and Rosewall did turn pro they would not be able to defend the Davis Cup they won for Australia this year. Neither would they be able to represent their country in other international amateur matches, thus depriving Australia of two top stars in the sport where it has won international athletic supremacy.

Tuesday was the final deadline for a decision by the two on whether or not to join Kramer's tennis troupe for a professional tour.

The Australian press generally had predicted that Hoad would stay amateur. But it was thought Rosewall might accept Kramer's offer.

Strathconas dressed 15 players and shifted combinations throughout the game.

Centre-forward Ken Hibbert scored the only goal of the first half and added another after the intermission. Another two-goal man was Bob Boyd, one of four Navy players turning out with Victoria. The fifth goal was scored by John Weldon.

Strathconas will continue workouts this week at Athletic Park Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7.

Lions Keep Hopes Alive

B.C. Lions 36, Calgary Stampeders 18

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions killed any hopes Calgary Stampeders may have had of winning a Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff spot by crushing the Stamps, 36-18, here Saturday night.

At the same time Lions kept their slim playoff hopes alive. The Lions fashioned the win out of interceptions and fumbles before a crowd of 16,951, smallest of the season here.

British Columbia, playing without quarterback Arnie Galiffa, tackle Arnie Weinmeister and half Al Pollard, scored six converted touchdowns, three in the final quarter, for their fifth victory in 14 starts. It was Calgary's 11th loss.

Ron Clinkscale called most of Lions' signals, with 167-pound Primo Villaneuva taking over late in the action.

B.C. led 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, 12-0 at the half. The three-quarter mark saw the Lions ahead 18-6.

SCORES TWO TDS

Gil Bartosh scored two touchdowns for Lions. Clinkscale, Villaneuva, Rae Ross and Dan Edwards, scored one piece. Centre Ron Baker converted all six.

Jack Meakin, Willie Roberts and Lynn Bottoms scored touchdowns for Calgary with Tom Miner making the extra point three times for the Stampeders.

Clinkscale scored in the first quarter and Villaneuva in the second. Meakin put Calgary in contention with less than four minutes gone in the third. Bartosh replied at 12:50 to end the third quarter scoring.

There were five touchdowns in a wild final 15 minutes—the first by Ross at 33 seconds, Edwards went over at 2:55 and Bartosh again at 5:04.

Calgary smashed back, with Roberts hitting pay dirt at 11:44 and Bottoms at 12:21.

B.C. recovered Baz Nagle's fumble in the first quarter to set up Clinkscale.

Calgary, early in the second, worked the ball to the B.C. three, where fullback Joe Yamauchi fumbled on the goal line, giving B.C. possession.

Another Stamp threat in the same quarter ended when Klosterman passed to Bill McKenna near the goal line. Villaneuva pulled down the ball and went to the 40.

Clinkscale hit Edwards, Ken Higgs and Sam Adams to put B.C. on Calgary's 12. Villaneuva went over on two carries.

Early in the third quarter, Don Moselle intercepted a Clinkscale toss to set up Stamps' first touchdown.

FALLS ON BALL

A third-down kick went through the arms of Pete Von Harten and Meakin fell on the ball behind the B.C. goal line.

Later, with Stamps on their own 11, Glen Christian grabbed a "hot potato" pass from the hands of a Calgary player and went to the Stampeders four. Clinkscale hit Bartosh in the end zone to make it 18-6.

Calgary was on their own four with 33 seconds gone in the fourth when a quick kick was blocked by Don George. Ross scooped it up and went over.

On their next possession, B.C. scored with Clinkscale passing to Edwards from the Calgary 36.

From the Lions' 50-yard line, Stevenson hit Roberts on the goal line to make the score 36-12.

Within one minute, the Stamps hit pay dirt again. Calgary's Bob Meyers fell on a five-yard aside boot to give Calgary possession. Stevenson hit Bottoms on the B.C. five and the halfback went over for another touchdown.

Riders Edge Eskimos

REGINA (CP)—A second-stringers battle Saturday night between the West's top two teams ended with Saskatchewan Roughriders building a goal-line wall to assure a 43 victory over Edmonton Eskimos in a nonetheless exciting game before 11,590 fans.

Riders now are assured of a playoff berth.

The loss was the second in 14 scheduled games for Eskimos, who already were assured of a first-place finish.

Saskatchewan's winning margin was the rouge which followed Rod Pantages' 60-yard punt in the first quarter. Edmonton tackle Bob Dean opened scoring with a 25-yard field goal, but end Joe Aguirre matched it in the second quarter. The final half was scoreless.

Except in the fourth quarter, Rider coach Frank Filchock used most of his customary benchwarmers on offence to meet the challenge of Edmonton mentor Frank Pop Ivy, who left five imports at home.

Sam Wins Air Duel

By The Canadian Press

Sam Etcheverry and Tom Dublinski hooked up in a sensational air duel Saturday that resulted in a decisive 44-23 victory for Montreal Alouettes over Toronto Argonauts in a Big Four Football Union game.

Etcheverry was the master in this clash between two ace quarterbacks who fought it out on a muddy field through light showers. Sam the Rifle fired five payoff passes, three to Joey Pal and one each to Hall Patterson and Red O'Quinn. Dublinski went to the air for all four Toronto touchdowns, hitting Al Pfeiffer three times and Henry Ford once.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats made sure of at least a second-place tie as they broke loose for three converted fourth-quarter touchdowns to whip Ottawa Rough Riders 28-1 in the other Saturday Big Four game.

J. C. Caroline and Pat Abbruzzi each scored a touchdown via the ground route. Bud Korchak converted six of the Montreal touchdowns and added a field goal. Pfeiffer kicked three converts for the Argos.

Coulter and Billy Shipp of Toronto traded punches in the fourth quarter and both were put out of the game.

Nobby Wirkowski, Hamilton quarterback, unfurled an aerial attack in the last quarter of the game at Hamilton that led to three touchdowns. Johnny Fedosoff, traded to Ticats by the Argos before the season opened, scored two. Hall Waggoner and Lou Kusserow went over for the others, and Ray Truant converted all four. Steve Oneschuk, up from the University of Toronto this year, kicked a first-quarter field goal for the Ticats and added a single in the third when his attempt for another field goal was wide. Avatus Stone kicked Ottawa's single in the opening quarter.

Nashua Sets New Mark For One-Year Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)—Belair Stud's Nashua set an all-time mark for one-year earnings when he pounded through the rain and sloop of Belmont Park Saturday to win the 36th running of the $79,950 Jockey Gold Cup, a classic two-mile, weight-for-age test. Nashua won by five lengths in the moderate time of 3:24.45.

Nashua earned $52,850 to jack his earnings for this year to $752,550, surpassing Citation's record of $709,470 set in 1948 when the Calumet colt was a three-year-old.

Now all that stands in the way of the Belair beauty is Citation's all-time money-winning mark of $1,085,760. Nashua, retiring for the year, has total earnings of $945,145. His victory Saturday put him ahead of $918,485.

Barring accident, Nashua appears to have the all-time money record at his mercy as a four-year-old. Citation achieved his million-dollar bankroll with 45 starts. Nashua has been to the post but 20 times, winning 16, finishing second three times and third once.

Retarded Children In City Total 750

About 750 children in the Greater Victoria area need special help, educational and otherwise, to achieve a happy future, according to the Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children.

The first survey of mental retardation ever officially carried out in this area has been initiated by the association and preliminary figures show only 214 of these 750 children are as yet known to agencies. Thirty per cent of these known children who are retarded to some degree are not receiving any type of training or teaching beyond that obtained at home.

PUBLIC EDUCATION
The Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children was formed early this year to give specific assistance to the "forgotten child," and until specific programs are adopted, to carry out a program of public education.

Parents of retarded children, who have not yet contacted the association, are asked to do so. Details and names of all cases are kept confidential and are used only to check accuracy of count. Secretary is Mrs. J. D. Jowett, 9-3534.

EXPECTANT FATHER—Clark Gable is going to be a father for the first time next May, his fifth wife disclosed in Hollywood Sunday. The former Kay Williams Spreckels told a reporter that the 54-year-old actor is really hankering for the role of expectant father. When her doctor gave her a prescription for vitamins, Gable asked for a prescription, too. "You mean they don't give the fathers anything?" he asked.

While his fellow actors were discussing their latest movie successes over late, Ayres, the other night, Ayres proudly previewed his production for film executives. Now, he said excitedly, "there's talk of the films playing in theatres."

Lew stood quietly, watching his friends file into the projection room, and looked unlike a one-man movie-maker. In recent years the one-time star of the "Dr. Kildare" series has been devoted to religion and art. He lives alone in a Laurel Canyon hideaway and seldom appears in public with the local beauties.

Lew Ayres Takes Two Years Out, Makes 3 Movies on Religions

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Lew Ayres gave up acting two years ago, and today he unveiled the reason for his long absence from the screen—a 5½-hour one-man movie on religion. He scrapped together his own earnings, said good-bye to the dizzy whirl of the cinema city and began an eight-months' tour of 17 countries.

He took only a 16 mm camera and one assistant. They accomplished the staggering feat of a film documentary on the world's great religions, excepting Christianity.

Ayres collected so much material he wound up with three movies, totaling 5½ hours, and a book, "Altars of Asia." He's taking the films on tour around the country, beginning with San Francisco Oct. 31, as his "contribution to peace."

BRITISH WOMEN'S FAGS PAIN VISITING SOVIET

LONDON (UP)—A Soviet naval officer, here on the first goodwill cruise to Britain since the war, was so shocked by the smoking habits of British women that he wrote a letter to the editor of the Daily Express.

"Why do so many English girls smoke so much, especially in the streets?" Lt.-Col. Constantin Kuzmin asked. "It looks so uncharming and it is such a pity."

Iron Curtain Lifting Seen By Delegates to Warsaw Meet

A freer exchange of ideas and a greater freedom of movement exist today between eastern and western Europe—"a sign that the Iron Curtain" is slowly being raised.

This view was expressed today by Ben Shek, leader of a Canadian delegation which attended the World Youth Festival for Peace and Friendship in Warsaw, Poland, this summer.

Mr. Shek, secretary of the National Federation of Labor Youth, a communist organization with headquarters in Toronto, is on a lecture tour of Vancouver Island and has just arrived in Victoria.

The labor official, who has attended a number of youth conferences in Europe, said three years ago tension between east and west Europe was near the breaking point. "There was little intermingling between racial groups and the political picture was dark," he said.

EXCHANGE VISITS

"But this is rapidly changing today," he said. "It is now not unusual to see athletes, tourists, cultural and scientific groups travelling to Russia or Russian groups visiting western Europe."

The change of feeling between Russia and West Europe became apparent after the Geneva conference this summer, he said.

Mr. Shek said the main factor keeping the West and East apart is "mutual distrust."

"This distrust is common on both sides of Iron Curtain," he said. "But conditions are now improving due mainly to a greater freedom of movement in Europe and the interchange of ideas."

ANOTHER "EXCLUSIVE" TO VICTORIA AT R. O. MUNSON'S

New concept of "concealed hearing" for the deafened. It's a combination of Malco's new TRANSIT-HEAR hearing aid and attractive "Hear-Rings," which hide the tiny receiver and conceal the fact that a woman is wearing an aid.

The instrument case matches the color of the wearer's hair, and is tucked into her coiffure so cleverly it can be worn in perfect confidence. No cords show anywhere on her neck or body.

This picture demonstrates how easily the receiver can be transferred from one "Hear-Ring" set to another, for appropriate evening or daytime wear.

Dockyard Carpenter Seeks Saanich Seat

C. H. MacMillan, 971 Lodge Avenue, a carpenter at HMCS Dockyard, will run as a candidate for Saanich council in the December elections.

He is the eighth to enter the race for three vacant council seats.

A resident of Greater Victoria since 1910, Mr. MacMillan said there is need for the reorganization of some of the municipal departments. Better organization, he said, would save ratepayers money and keep taxes down.

At the same time, Mr. MacMillan said he favored construction of a $500,000 new municipal hall in Saanich, providing ratepayers approved the expenditure.

Other council contestants are Mrs. Leslie Passmore, S. W. Brock, and Ronald Grant, seeking re-election; Fred Davison, David Wright, T. J. O'Neill and Pat Conroy.

LUNG CANCER DEATHS SOAR BY 140 PER CENT

TORONTO (BUP)—The Canadian Medical Association Journal has reported the death rate for men from cancer of the lung and other respiratory tissue increased more than 140 per cent from 1941 to 1953.

Dr. A. J. Phillips of Toronto and Dr. Margaret Onchar of Winnipeg reported the death rate from respiratory cancer included those attributed to cancer of the larynx, trachea, bronchus and lung.

In 1941, the death rate for men was 9.1 per 100,000 population. In 1953, it had increased to 20.4.

Among women, however, the death rate was unchanged.

Record Crowd of 1,400 Enjoys Annual Brentwood Country Fair

By DICK FREEMAN
Times Brentwood Correspondent

BRENTWOOD—Sparked by a novel period fashion show, Brentwood district's annual country fair Saturday night proved to be the best ever in fun, finance and frivolity.

It was a gala night to be remembered by the 1,400 people in attendance, all previous records having been eclipsed, according to the promoters.

The floor show bulged with surprises as male models endeavored to outdo the opposite sex in dress and poise, with some measure of success.

PERIOD DRESSES

Mrs. Roger Ronson, president of the Brentwood Women's Institute, and Mrs. Alex Cuthbert, organizer of stage and concert productions, arranged and directed this phase of the entertainment program.

They conceived the idea of reviving the fashions of the "gay nineties" to bring back pleasant memories of the days when mothers and grandmothers paraded in their finery.

First model of the show dated back to the year 1848, 107 years ago. It was worn by the daughter of the mayor of Lewes, in the county of Sussex in England, at a reception given for Queen Victoria at Lewes Castle.

On this historic occasion the gown had a five-yard train which was later cut off to permit wearing on less formal occasions.

HANDSOME MODELS

It was none other than Cl. Harold Andrew of Central Saanich who modelled this original gown at the Saturday night fair here.

Clarence Covell, who impersonated the "Merry Widow" of Franz Lehár fame, was devastating in black lace, with Lois Holloway as escort in tails and topper.

Norman Parsell kept the audience in good humor with his impersonation of Mae West, and Joan Bolster paraded in a genuine Paris model of the "flapper" period.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Haugen and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wolf also contributed to the success of the fashion floor parade which featured, among other attractions, "bathing beauties" of the pre-Bikini era.

SEVERAL GAMES

Games of chance flourished throughout the night in every part of the hall with bingo holding the spotlight for popularity. This attraction was run by Ron. Knott, assisted by Harry Peard, Don McMuldroch, Clarence Covell and Stan. Bickford.

The hobby show occupied the whole lower floor of the building and drew favorable comment.

Most outstanding exhibit in the senior class was a three-foot steam locomotive built by Frank K. Littlewood, a retired contractor, in his spare time.

JUNIOR WINNERS

Junior hobby prize winners were:

Girls—six to nine years—Margaret Walker, Ruth Sawbridge, Elaine Williams; nine to 12, Sandra Lannistrom, Margaret Hooper, Joan Burdon; 13-15, Sharon Warner; 16-18, Anne Dickens, Lois Holloway, Sylvia Smethurst.

Boys—six to nine—David Bolster, Neil McCaskill, Paul McMuldroch; 10-12, Dennis Clement, Douglas Greenwood, Michael Warnock; 13-15, Pat Johnston, Ronnie Tidman, Bill Scott; 16-18, David Smethurst, Tony Dickens.

Mrs. James Smethurst and Mrs. J. E. Nimmo were in charge of the hobby show.

Door prize winners were L. Halcrow, D. Jack, R. L. Desmond, Miss V. May, Tom Butler, Raymond Budinski, Mrs. A. R. Huntley, Mrs. J. Nuefeld, Mrs. R. Harris, J. J. Young, M. O. Goodmanson, Miss Lavina Paul, R. E. Jones.

Raffle winners were Philip S. Lomas, Mrs. Florence McKevitt, Mrs. R. Shaw, Mrs. D. Nimmo, B. Garnot, J. Anderson and Reeve H. Rupert Brown.

Condition of Sidney Wharf Ends Winter Ferry Service

SIDNEY—Washington State Ferries has abandoned its proposed winter service between this port and Anacortes because of the condition of the wharf here.

C. E. Blaney, agent for the ferries in Victoria, said the firm had considered a winter service, but gave it up because the Sidney wharf does not permit all-year operation.

He said inshore dolphins that hold vessels in place while loading were in "bad shape," and that use during stormy winter weather possibly could have caused damage to ships and made conditions unsafe for loading.

The service originally was to have stopped Sept. 30, but was extended to Oct. 15. It was a second extension that was abandoned. Mv. Kikitat will return to the service early next April.

Wharfage rates for the 250-foot ferry have been raised from 1/2 cent to 5 cents per foot per trip. Car and passenger rates will not be changed.

Chamber Planning Nov. 19 Banquet

SOOKE—Annual banquet date for the Sooke-Jordan River Chamber of Commerce has been set for Nov. 19, it was decided at the regular meeting held at Jordan River on the week-end.

Annual meeting of the body will be held Nov. 9.

Owing to the fact that many local merchants have adopted the practice of remaining open Friday evenings, future meetings of the chamber will be held on the second Wednesday of each month rather than on the Friday.

G. D. Elgar, speaking on the possibility of the chamber sparking interest in a community lawn bowling club, pointed out that all community sports effort is for the benefit of young people and that no facilities exist for the entertainment of senior citizens. Mr. Elgar and C. Ferris were appointed by the president to investigate the idea of lawn bowling further.

W. A. Conder, secretary of the Sooke fire protection district, reported that the West Coast Ambulance had been taken over by that body and that the service will now be operated on a business basis.

UBC Course Planned

NANAIMO (CP)—Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce has announced it will sponsor a UBC extension course dealing with personal and corporate finance. The course will begin in two weeks.

Comparative figures show that Victoria's Community Chest is among the most efficiently run in North America.

NANAIMO CLUB MARKING 50TH ANNIVERSARY

NANAIMO (CP)—Members of the Nanaimo Fish and Game Protective association will celebrate the club's 50th anniversary with a banquet Dec. 10.

Ted Barsby, access committee chairman, told the meeting the number of hunters had increased in the Northwest bay area from 477 last year to 728 in 1955 season. Last year 34 deer were killed until this date, compared to 62 taken by hunters so far this season.

"Safety bingo" is the newest in a series of safety promotions at Copper Canyon camp of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. One dollar a day will go into a bingo "pot" for every accident-free day worked. The "pot" started off Monday with $25, as the division had worked that many accident-free days up until that time. Each worker was issued a bingo card Monday and one number will be drawn each day. The winner receives the amount in the "pot."

However, if an accident is recorded before a winner is declared, the game will be stopped and the "pot" wiped out. New cards will be given out and another game started.

Victorians Crowd to See Princess Mary at Church, on Parade

Royal Athletic Park was splash of color Sunday when Canadian Scottish Regiment paraded in ceremonial inspection for Princess Royal.

Conforming to tradition, the Princess Royal addressed her regiment at some length after a ceremonial inspection of the Canadian Scottish in Royal Athletic Park Sunday. Text follows:

"Lieut. Col. Fawcett and all ranks of my Canadian Scottish Regiment—

"I am more than delighted that at last I have been able to fulfill my wish and be with you all today.

"It is now 25 years since my dear father appointed me your colonel-in-chief, and seven years ago my brother, King George VI, approved of the inclusion of my name in your title.

"I have always felt very proud of leading you; indeed, who could feel otherwise when one remembers the valor and prowess of the 16th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force, from which you sprang, and your own great achievements in the last war?

"Throughout the last war I closely followed your movements, and I had the pleasure of seeing you on more than one occasion. Particularly do I remember my visit to you in 1942 and the luncheon given you by the Lord Mayor of London in the Mansion House in 1945. Nor shall I ever forget your beautiful mascot, Wallace, who did as much perhaps as any human being to forge the links which bind together my two Scottish regiments. These close ties between you mean so much to me, your mutual colonel-in-chief, and evidence of them is constantly recurring.

"Only as recently as four years ago there was established the closest liaison between your 'D' Company, of the 1st Highland Battalion, and the 1st Battalion, the Royal Scots, in Germany, and there were many meetings between them.

"There have also been many gifts from one regiment to the other, and these, I know, are highly treasured. But even more enduring are two memorials in Great Britain, of which all here ever should be fully aware. I refer first to the Royal Military Memorial Chapel, Sandhurst, which contains a book of remembrance showing the names of all officers of the Commonwealth and Empire who gave their lives in the last war.

"In this chapel also there were installed new oak pews on which are carved the badges of all the regiments of the Commonwealth and Empire, and by the special request of the Royal Scots and yourselves, both badges have been carved in the same pew. You were certainly the first Allied regiments to request this privilege, and I do not know if others followed suit.

"Next, I must tell you that in the entrance hall of the Royal Scots Club in Edinburgh, which was built as the 1914-18 war memorial of that regiment, there have been placed on the wall two stone plaques in memory of those who fell in the last war, one for Royal Scots and one for Canadian Scottish. These I myself unveiled. It is interesting to record that at both the above commemorative functions a representative of your regiment was present.

"I have said much about the deep friendship which exists between my two Scottish regiments because I believe that it helps to bring together even more closely than before two of the great countries over which our Sovereign holds sway.

"I would like to mention Col. Peck, VC, who has done so much to hand on to you the traditions built up by the old 16th Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

"I also want to make special reference to the late Col. Urquhart, for he, in conjunction with Col. MacKenzie of the Royal Scots, was surely the greatest force in welding together my two Scottish regiments.

"In conclusion, I wish to congratulate you, Col. Fawcett, and all ranks under your command on your splendid turn-out, deportment and drill.

"Today's parade has assured me that you are continuing to live up to the high traditions which you have inherited, and I know that, should the call come again to fight for your Sovereign and for all that you hold dear, my Canadian Scottish Regiment will be ready and eager for the fray.

"May God bless you all."

Princess Mary wore dark green uniform of major general of Women's Army Corps when she took salute at Royal Athletic Park ceremonial march-past of Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

A constituent with musical inclinations has requested me to join him in a song-writing partnership.

He feels we could make a fortune, producing songs for various firms, institutions, and individuals. And, to show he knows of what he speaks, he has supplied a sample list of titles. All I am supposed to do is write the lyrics, which should be a cinch.

I am not sure whether I should enter into this partnership. After reading the following titles, perhaps you would be kind enough to advise me.

Theme song for an electric light company: "Mazda's in the cold, cold ground."

For a finance company: "It all comes back to me now."

For interior decorators: "Can't you hear me callin', Kalsomine?"

For a dynamiting company: "I'm forever blowing rubble."

For a dressmaker: "Silver threads among the gold."

For Mayor Claude Harrison: "Three little terms, that's all I ask for, just three little terms."

For top air force officers: "My silent love."

For the community chest: "It's always fair weather when we wear the red feather." (So this is a plug, so what?)

For the arena commission: "River, stay away from my floor."

For a pair of horses: "It only happens when I prance with you."

The constituent supplied more of the same, but on second thoughts, don't bother advising me.

I have already dissolved the partnership.

3,000 Watch Princess Inspect 'My Regiment' Under Sunny Sky

By AB KENT

With the assurance and staid formality common to British royalty on high occasions, the Princess Royal climaxed a heavy round of week-end engagements in Victoria when she inspected the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) in Royal Athletic Park Sunday.

The famed fighting unit paraded 340 of its officers, cadets and other ranks beneath a sunny sky for review by Princess Mary, for 25 years colonel-in-chief of the regiment.

In the stands were an estimated 3,000 Victorians, stirred by the presence of the Queen's aunt before a background of colorful Highland uniforms.

The Princess, making her first visit to the home of the regiment, arrived Saturday at 5.30 p.m. at Patricia Bay airport, where about 1,000 citizens waited and cheered. Her stay will end Friday when HMCS Athabaskan takes her to Vancouver for three days.

Addressing the Scottish before leaving Athletic Park, the Princess congratulated commanding officer Lieut. Col. Jack Fawcett and all ranks for their turn-out, deportment and drill.

As the Princess Royal stepped from her limousine at Athletic Park, regimental and royal standards were lowered and the personal standard of Her Highness was broken out at the dais. Simultaneously, troops gave the royal salute.

TALKS TO THE MEN
Then, with the unit standing at open order, Princess Mary walked briskly along the ranks, pausing occasionally to exchange a word with a decorated soldier. Both bands and six companies of Scottish cadets were included, with bands playing alternately during the inspection.

Pipes and drums played as the battalion marched past in column of companies with the colors flanked by their special guard at the centre.

Again troops marched past, this time in column of route with the brass band playing "Daughter of the Regiment," the princess' personal march past, as it moved past the dais. Finally, the Scottish advanced in review order, cadets to the rear, and the royal salute was given once more.

At this point subalterns Lieut. S. Rae McDonald, 2-Lieuts. John N. White, Kenneth E. G. Jackson and Daniel R. J. Campbell stepped from the ranks to be presented by the princess with their Queen's commissions, and Piper Andrew McGeorge was given the Canadian forces' decoration for 12 years' service.

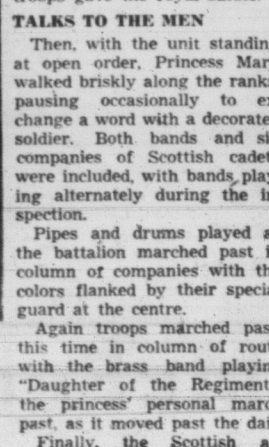

Quiet reserve of those watching was broken as Piper McGeorge stepped forward.

Spectators shouted "Attaboy, Andy" and "Go get it, Andy," causing Her Highness to make a smiling remark to her querry. The colonel-in-chief's address to her regiment was followed by three cheers from all ranks.

Dignitaries on the parade field included Mrs. Mayhew, Brig. and Mrs. John S. Adam, Mrs. Fawcett, Capt. and Mrs. John Charles, Brig. George Kitching, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. John C. Cave, Mayor and Mrs. Claude Harrison, Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Hugh F. Pullen, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. W. H. V. Matthews and Col. Cy Peck.

Archbishop Harold Sexton tendered the official welcome to Princess Mary on behalf of Christ Church Cathedral officers, clergy and congregation in his sermon Sunday morning. He referred to the royal visit as one of the means of "uniting the bonds of brotherhood" between nations of the Commonwealth and the United Kingdom.

Coast Guard Service Impractical—Marler

SPILLS MAR HORSE SHOW

There were four spectacular spills but only one injury as a crowd of 1,000 thrilled to hunter trials and western riding events of Western Horsemen's Club Sunday.

Highlight of the mishaps which held crowds breathless was a triple tumble when three horses plunged together into a ditch during a quarter-mile race. The 35-horse show was held at the farm of J. M. Ross on Shelbourne Street. Included were both English and Western events.

Taken to hospital for a check-up and admitted with minor abrasions and shock was Miss Bonnie Green, 17. She fell during a jump in the hunter pairs event. A race earlier, she was declared winner in the maiden hunter race.

The three-horse spill occurred during a race won by George McGee. Tumbled into the ditch were Dal Walker, Ron Trickett and Clint Wilson. All were uninjured and Ron went on to win the pole-bending and win with his brother, Bob, the western tire race. This involves one horse rider and one tire rider. An old tire is dragged on about 30 feet of rope behind a horse with a rider on each.

Bob Trickett was grand aggregate winner. The two boys have only been riding about three years.

Here is the complete list of winners:
Pole Bending—1. Ron Trickett; 2. Bob Green; 3. Bob Trickett.
Maiden Hunter—1. Miss Bonnie Green; 2. Clint Wilson; 3. Mrs. Trudy Newton.
Hunter Pairs—1. Mrs. Trudy Newton and Mr. C. C. Carpenter; 2. Miss Gail Warshawski and Mr. C. Wilson.
Stake Race—1. Bob Trickett; 2. Ron Trickett; 3. Bob Grimshaw.
Open Hunter—1. C. C. Carpenter; 2. Miss Judy Manlin; 3. Miss Moraga Betenson.
Western Tire Race—1. Bob and Ron Trickett; 2. Clint Wilson and Gordy Huston; 3. George McGee and Fred Kinnerley.
Grafton Road Jump—1. Miss Marjorie Milligan; 2. Mrs. Trudy Newton; 3. Bill Grimshaw.
Western V-Mile Scurry: Boys' division—1. George McGee; 2. Bob Trickett; 3. Clint Wilson. Girls' division—1. Miss D. Johnston; 2. Miss N. Creelman; 3. Miss G. Warshawski.

Minister Here On Inspection

A coast guard service for B.C. is impractical, in the opinion of Hon. George C. Marler, minister of transport.

Here on an inspection visit to D.O.T. facilities, Mr. Marler said today those who urge such a service "are probably not aware of the existing air-sea rescue facilities."

"From what I have learned, our present facilities appear to be very good at least on paper," he said.

Mr. Marler indicated he had not yet given the matter personal study on this trip. He arrived in Vancouver by train this morning, went directly to the airport for the flight here in a D.O.T. DC-3.

However, he said his personal opinion was that the tremendous length of B.C. coastline would make a coast guard service impractical.

MR. MARLER inspected airport facilities this morning, followed by a tour of marine agency offices and the department of transport in the inner harbor. He lunched on board CGS Estevan, lighthouse tender.

Mr. Marler is accompanied by John R. Baldwin, deputy minister, and six other department officials. He was met at the airport by Dr. Frank Fairley, Victoria MP; Major-General George R. Pearkes, Esquimalt-Saanich MP; Col. Keith Dixon, department of transport marine agent here; and Tom Morrison, former marine agent.

The party will leave for Prince Rupert Tuesday morning.

Three persons injured in a spectacular crash Sunday at the intersection of Bay and Blanshard were among five persons requiring hospital treatment following week-end car accidents.

Most seriously hurt was Peter Graham, 31, 928 Darwin. He is in Royal Jubilee hospital suffering head injuries and concussion.

He was injured when the car he was driving was involved in an accident at about 8.55 a.m. Sunday at Bay and Blanshard.

Two others, James Donaldson, 35, 22 Haliburton, Nanaimo, and Stan Stodhard, 15, Cordova Bay road, were treated at hospital for minor injuries.

Police said the accident occurred when an auto driven east on Bay by Stanley Dakin, 58 Pine, Nanaimo, collided with a car driven by Mr. Graham, which was going south on Blanshard.

Impact caused both autos to roll over, the Graham car skidding across Blanshard, righting itself after striking a curb and then colliding with the front of a parked car and crashing into a power pole.

Parked car was owned by John McLeod, 2339 Blanshard. Damage was heavy to both autos involved in the initial crash.

Michael Giles, seven, Langford, received a black eye and bruises when he tumbled from a moving car driven by his father on Helmcken Road at about 5 p.m. Sunday.

Ronald McDermott, 12, 1548 Morley, sustained scrapes and bruises when he fell from his bike in the 2700 block Asquith at about 2.30 p.m. Sunday.

Scott Will File Despite Conviction
Mayorality candidate W. A. Scott said today he will file nomination papers in spite of the "probability" he will be disqualified due to a court conviction last week.

A ruling on the matter is not expected until such time as his papers are received at City Hall. He was fined $40 in Oak Bay Court Friday on a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm. Maximum penalty could have been two years in jail according to the Criminal Code. The Municipal Act states that anyone guilty of an offense which makes him liable for two years imprisonment is disqualified unless pardoned or five years' had elapsed since his sentence is completed.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Newfoundland, where I was born many years ago, used to have many caribou. Are there still caribou on that island?—Mrs. K.M.V.

A.—Yes, Director Carl of the B.C. Museum, informs this column woodland caribou still have Canada's 10th province as a habitat. The section on fish and game in "Canada, a Descriptive Atlas," published by the federal government in 1951, says: "Newfoundland has a good supply of inland fish and game mammals. In order of abundance and importance the principal game animals are caribou, moose, black bears and hares." There is an open season on caribou, but the wild nature of the terrain doubtless keeps the total of animals killed at a lower level than it otherwise would be.

Q.—When was the original Victoria Theatre, which stood on part of the site of the present Eaton's store here built?—A.—The cornerstone of the old Victoria Theatre was laid March 31, 1885, and the "grand opening" was staged Oct. 16, 1885.

Original Ceramic Jewelry
Is Designed and Made Here
By PENNY SAVER

"Made in California," "Imported." These are notes you'll find stamped on the backs of much of the attractive ceramic jewelry around town. But have you seen the ones marked "Made in Victoria"? By artistic craftsmen, accomplished in design and molding, these pieces of jewelry are proving very popular with all who see them. I found two sets in a display that caught my eye. One set was of white glazed pottery with a pale pink and blue shell pattern. The earrings are round and large, while the matching bracelet is made of rectangular links, joined together with a fine and delicate yet sturdy chain. Another set is yellow, with black and green fine spray pattern in a sort of star design. These are very similarly made to the white ones. Each set costs $5.50. And you'll know it's original and just a little different from run-of-the-mill jewelry, 'cause it's hand worked and each piece is original in itself.

What next? Now there are lopsided cups being made! That's what I said. When first I saw these plastic cups, I thought they had been left too near the heat, and had bent in the middle. But on closer look, I discovered that they were made especially for invalids and children. There's no need to lift the head from the pillow, 'cause the cup bends to you. It has an elliptical rim, so the flow is controlled for baby's small mouth, and the rim remains clear of the forehead. There's no awkward spout, and the level of the liquid is easily visible. Every drop may be drained without the head being lifted. This is really a wonderful item for sick room and nursery. In pink, blue or white, they cost just 25 cents.

Cape cod oil lamps are charming, and have been reproduced in many pictures and ornaments. The latest that I've seen are tiny salt and pepper shakers. The bottom is of black iron, while the chimney and shade are of plastic. They are perfect in detail and come in two styles. There is the set with the black iron bottom, and another set with the chimney and shade resting on a gold-colored plastic double stand. Either set costs $1.49.

All packed in a dainty little case, is the most adorable set

Miss Lorna May Sinclair Becomes Bride of F. W. Merriman

Gowned in a traditional gown of white satin and lace, Miss Lorna May Sinclair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gretton Brown, 2856 Prior Street, entered St. Mark's Church to become the bride of Frederick William Merriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Merriman, 1135 Hilda Street. Canon Robert Willis performed the ceremony in a setting of fall blooms. The bride was given in marriage by Gretton Brown.

Her gown was styled in courtier lines, with a fitted lace jacket, with long lily point sleeves. Her floor-length veil of illusion net edged with lace was caught to a pearl encrusted crown. A white prayer book belonging to the groom's aunt, Mrs. A. W. Flint, was carried by the bride and topped with orchids.

Matron of honor, Mrs. J. E. Duggan, sister of the bride and bridesmatron, Mrs. R. T. Obee, sister of the groom, were gown in dresses styled the same as the bride's, in green and copper chimespun taffeta with contrasting copper-toned stoles. They carried red chrysanthemums and wore matching bandeaux. Bridesmaids, Miss Lola Brown, sister of the bride, and Miss Lucille Merriman, niece of the groom, wore floor-length bouffant gowns of copper flecked taffeta, and carried copper chrysanthemums. Their bandeaux were of matching blooms. Flower girls, Miss Anne Newman and Miss Barbara Merriman, wore light green and copper taffeta dresses. They carried baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and wore matching bandeaux.

Guests were received at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table, which was decorated with bowls of pink begonias. D. B. Hunjer proposed the toast to the bride's happiness. Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Up-Island, the bride wore a pink woolen suit topped with a full length muskrat coat with matching accessories of brown and avocado green. Her corsage was of green orchids. When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Merriman will live at 944 Island Highway.

Married Men Can Find Jobs At Kitimat

Married men willing to make their home at Kitimat can find jobs in B.C.'s aluminum city, according to National Employment Office acting manager George Wallach.

Mr. Wallach said in his weekly report that "vacancies still exist at Kitimat for married men who are prepared to move their families into that area."

Employment in the Greater Victoria area continues at a high level, despite small layoffs. The total of unemployed is only 35 above the 1947 figure, the all-time low record.

There are fewer men out of work now than in 1947, but the number of out-of-work women has climbed 400.

Job vacancies for men have dropped slightly, due to the break in the weather during the week, but still continue "at a good level."

And the only thing he could talk about was the Hudson's Bay Company's new phone number—

EXPERT WILL SURVEY CANADIAN ART FESTIVAL

OTTAWA (BUP)—Ian Hunter, artistic director of the Edinburgh Festival, arrives Tuesday to make a month-long survey on the chances of establishing an annual international festival of music and the arts in Canada.

Hunter and his wife are due in New York today by ship from London. They are expected to fly direct to Ottawa Tuesday.

Hunter is undertaking his study at the request of a private Canadian group which has made a preliminary survey for a music and arts festival during the past two years. Its findings have been submitted to Governor-General Vincent Massey, who first suggested the idea in 1952.

Drew Demands Cash To Tide Farmers Over

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Opposition leader George Drew termed the prairie grain situation as a "grave problem" Saturday night and urged immediate federal action to provide western farmers with the necessary cash payments so they can meet their expenses, taxes and prepare for the 1956 crops.

Drew, who left his sick bed at the Winnipeg General Hospital to address an overflow audience at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, pointed out that he had urged the federal government three years ago to pass the necessary legislation to permit payments to farmers on field-stored grain.

Now, he added, the problem has become "more critical than ever" and it is coupled with that of "selling."

The prairie grain situation "is a grave problem affecting all Canadians and the whole Canadian economy," the 61-year-old Conservative leader told a dinner audience assembled to mark the beginning of the centennial of his party's political life in Canada.

In discussing the "selling" problem Drew pointed out that the farmer could only sell to government agencies.

For that reason, the government has an unquestioned obligation to find the markets, the Conservative leader said.

Drew also told his audience that present government policies with regard to trade "are encouraging the export of raw materials, which will benefit the United States a great deal more than Canada."

He said that "by the simple policy of encouraging the processing of our own resources here in Canada, to the highest degree possible, we can create employment for millions of Canadians."

The Progressive Conservative chief said that it was on this point that the division between old Conservative leader and his party and the Liberals was most clearly defined.

Stalin's Son Courted Death, Fearing Russian Retribution

CAMP FRIEDLAND, Germany (CP)—A returning German war prisoner said Saturday Stalin's son Jacob was shot to death in an apparent attempt at suicide in a Nazi concentration camp in 1945.

Maj. Walter Reuschle, prewar director of Radio Stuttgart, said Jacob, Stalin's son by his first marriage, apparently decided to commit suicide when he heard the Russian army was approaching Berlin "because he was afraid the Russians would kill him for getting captured."

Reuschle said he interviewed Stalin's son, also known as Jacob Djughashvili, in 1941 after the latter was captured on the Eastern Front.

He said he got the details of Jacob's death from the commandant of Oranienburg Concentration Camp near Berlin, where Stalin's son was a prisoner of war.

"Stalin's son suddenly made a dash for the high-voltage fence and flung himself on it," he said. "When SS guards shouted at him to get away from the fence the Russian refused. Then they shot him."

Stalin's other son, Vassily, a former lieutenant-general in the Soviet air force, has not been mentioned in the Soviet press since July, 1952, seven months before his father's death.

A returned prisoner said last January said he heard Vassily was in Lubianka prison in Moscow. Other reports have said he died in a slave labor camp last fall.

An Austrian newspaper said Stalin's daughter Svetlana has been banished from Moscow. Vassily and Svetlana were last seen publicly together at Stalin's funeral.

Ike Sits in Chair, Confers With Aide

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower was lifted from his hospital bed Saturday and sat up for the first time in a chair, as he began a fourth week in the hospital with encouraging reports from his doctors.

The chief executive also had a business conference with Secretary of Treasury Humphrey, who told newsmen later of hopes of balancing the current budget and then a tax cut in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Eisenhower's doctors stopped the daily cardiograms Saturday and relieved from duty one of the specialists on his heart case.

Eisenhower was wearing a robe and pajamas for this first relief from his hospital bed. Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters the president took no steps.

In response to a question as to whether the doctors now think the danger of complications is pretty well gone, Hagerty said:

"In their opinion," he said, "the dangers of complications arising are very unlikely, but, of course, the rest and recuperation and convalescence period are still ahead of him."

VOTE RESUMES TUESDAY FOR UN COUNCIL SEAT

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Diplomats manoeuvred behind the scenes today in an effort to break a ballot deadlock over a Security Council seat sought by the Philippines, Poland and Yugoslavia.

Voting on the disputed seat, was scheduled to resume Tuesday. The delegates gave up last Friday after six ballots failed to produce conclusive results.

The Philippines, backed by the United States, led all the way but failed to get the required two-thirds majority.

Chances are you get a "helping" of aluminum as part of your daily diet. Most cities use aluminum sulphate to purify the water from lakes and rivers. Oshawa, for instance, has used it for this purpose for 35 years.

Usually, however, aluminum is associated with the outside of foods. In cooking utensils, cups and frozen food containers—in wrappings for cakes and candy and roasts and left-overs—in bottle tops and hoods—aluminum helps keep what we eat and drink fresh and pure and wholesome.

'DELIBERATE AFFRONT' CLERIC TELLS MOTHERS

MARGATE, England (Reuters)—A retired canon of the Church of England today described a possible marriage between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend as "deliberately an affront both to religion and the church."

Canon C. T. Kirtland, 68, made the statement before 1,800 members of the Mothers' Union, a church organization, at their annual convention here.

Answering written questions, he picked up one about the princess' reported romance and declared:

"I would yield to no one in my loyalty to the Queen and the Royal Family. I think my feeling about the whole thing is one of profound sorrow."

"Here is somebody who is very dear to our hearts. Here she contemplates doing something which is deliberately an affront both to religion and the church."

"I do not see what line the church can take. The less we gossip about it the better."

Margaret Again Partners Peter

Dinner-Date Tonight Confirms
Townsend Is Princess' Beau

(UP and CP Dispatches)

LONDON—Princess Margaret, disregarding criticism by Anglican clergymen, went off to dine with Peter Townsend again tonight after their return from a week-end in Windsor.

The princess met Townsend for dinner at the Victoria Road home of one of her former escorts, Mark Bonham Carter. The action seemed to make it doubly plain that the dashing airman is Margaret's steady beau.

The princess motored at noon today to Clarence House from the 20-room house in Windsor forest where she and Townsend were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wills. Mrs. Wills is the daughter of Lady Elphinstone, sister of the Queen Mother.

A photograph taken of Margaret just after she had said goodbye to Townsend caused widespread comment. Her face was sad and pensive—near tears, many thought.

Unsmiling Princess Ignores Crowd

It was a stern, unsmiling princess who whisked into Clarence House in the big limousine after a 20-mile drive from the country. She made no acknowledgement to the waving crowd of about 300 persons clustered outside the house. Inside her mother awaited her, having arrived earlier from Windsor.

Townsend, after his usual morning gallop on horseback, told reporters today that he had a "very nice" week-end.

And that was the closest anyone came to an authoritative statement on the plans of the 40-year-old ex-fighter pilot and the princess whose attachment, complicated by apparent religious and constitutional obstacles, has caused a world to wonder.

Townsend remained at the forest where she and Townsend were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wills. Mrs. Wills is the daughter of Lady Elphinstone, sister of the Queen Mother.

A photograph taken of Margaret just after she had said goodbye to Townsend caused widespread comment. Her face was sad and pensive—near tears, many thought.

One common interpretation of the week-end rendezvous was that it had been planned some time ago as a means whereby Margaret could decide whether her liking for Townsend, a divorced commoner with two sons approaching high school age, is strong enough to overcome all obstacles.

The absence of any official statement about Margaret's plans—beyond last Friday's announcement that no such word would be forthcoming "at present"—stimulated much speculation. Some newspapers said the romance was on but at least one thought it might be off.

... 'Will Not End Way You Think'

The Associated Press reported that the Duke of Edinburgh is advising strongly against the marriage, and quoted one London newspaper as saying that Princess Marie Louise, 83-year-old granddaughter of Queen Victoria, had declared such a marriage unthinkable.

The mass-circulation Sunday newspaper The People quoted "friends in the court circle" as saying the week-end meeting was "nothing more than a royal way of enabling her to say goodbye to an old friend of the family."

In Copenhagen, Reuters news agency quoted "independent newspaper information" that King Frederik of Denmark had said "the Princess Margaret, Peter Townsend affair... will not end in the way you think."

The king was said to have made the remark to a reporter cameras trained on them by press photographers.

Later they could be seen on a rose-entwined terrace where they played with a small dog. Margaret wore a three-quarter-length brown coat. Townsend was informal in a black sweater and grey trousers.

As the bright fall sunshine faded and a chill breeze came upon them, they went slowly into the house.

Margaret and the man that many believe she will marry appeared completely relaxed and oblivious to long-range cameras.

VICTORIA FISHBOAT FEARED SUNK

SOS Sparks Hunt
Near Port Alberni

A Victoria registered fishing vessel is missing and believed sunk off Bajo Point, 150 miles north of Port Alberni.

Mystery surrounds the fate of those on board as an RCAF air-sea rescue plane combed the area for signs of wreckage or survivors.

It is not known how many were on board. The ship, believed to be the A.E.H. sent a "mayday" call at 7 p.m. Sunday, saying "we are abandoning ship off Bajo Reef."

The call did not give the name of the vessel or the reason for the distress call. But the B.C. Packers' fishpacker Dinty Moore reported seeing the A.E.H. in the vicinity about 4 p.m. Sunday. Water was calm at the time, with fog patches.

FROM CEEPEECIE
The registry of Canadian shipping lists the A.E.H. as a Victoria-registered vessel, owned by Hugh Gordon, fisherman, who lives at Ceepeece.

The RCAF search plane, a Canco amphibian, searched the area Sunday evening until fog closed in. The plane resumed the search at 10 a.m. today.

The Canadian government lighthouse tender Estevan, based at Victoria, also picked up the "mayday" message and relayed it to Air-Sea Rescue in Vancouver.

Reports that wreckage had been sighted in the area by the Dinty Moore have not been confirmed.

The A.E.H. is equipped with radio telephone, but shore stations have not been able to receive her since the distress call at 7 p.m.

Parks 'Give Away' Plan Draws Fire on Mayor

Harrison's Action By-Passes Council Aldermen Claim

Strong protest today followed Mayor Claude L. Harrison's announcement on Saturday he had offered the provincial government city-owned Goldstream Park and Elk Lake on condition they be developed as beach areas.

The protests came from city alderman and ex-alderman Percy Scurrah who is opposing Mayor Harrison in his move for a third term in the December mayoralty.

They condemned the mayor for opening negotiations with the provincial park service without first obtaining sanction from city council.

WHAT AUTHORITY?

"Where does he get authority to offer property without consulting council first?" asked Mr. Scurrah.

He also asked "why the turnabout" in the mayor's actions.

He said that in 1951 a council committee had arrived at an agreement whereby the government would take over Goldstream Park and make it a class A provincial park.

"At that time he raised a terrible row, saying that we were giving away assets without safeguards."

Ald. Austin Curtis said the Elk Lake land in particular is valuable.

"I'm in favor of getting rid of property outside the city, but I'm not in favor of giving it away. He's gone ahead on his own. He hasn't asked council. I would oppose it in council."

Ald. Arthur Dowell said there's no question Elk Lake would be beautiful if developed but "I'm surprised an announcement like this would be made before it was discussed in council."

MORE TO IT

"He's hoping to swing council, he's done it before," said Ald. Robert Macmillan. "I don't think it's a straight give-away. He's probably getting more than at present meets the eye."

Ald. M. H. Mooney: "It can't be done without going through council. I'm not interested in giving Elk Lake away unless we get a promise of development. It would then benefit all the people in the province. I don't think Victoria should be paying taxes to make parks for the rest of the province."

Members of Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee, Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, said his group is currently involved in a development plan.

"I was surprised at the announcement," he said.

Mayor Harrison said the letter to the government was just a feeler.

"It was just a suggestion that they might like to have it. If they don't we'll go on with it (the park development) ourselves."

He said the transfer of the park would not likely mean a forced removal of premises owned by Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association at Goldstream "... although their lease is expired."

He said a game club official, Gordon Sward, had written to him approving of the development of the area as a public park.

The mayor said he had opposed a similar move by council in 1951 because the deal then under negotiation did not take in the foreshore, which he thinks will require most development.

Floods Slowly Recede, Leaving At Least 48 Dead

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Flood waters of scores of streams in seven northeastern states began slowly to recede today, leaving in their wake a mounting toll of dead and missing and damage that may total more than a half billion dollars.

The latest survey showed at least 48 dead in the flood-ravaged area stretching from Maine to Pennsylvania where a similar disaster struck only one month ago. An estimated 25,000 persons were homeless and thousands were idled when industries, either inundated or without power, were forced to shut down.

Rain, which had fallen for four days, continued to pelt down on the stricken area and the Boston weather bureau saw no respite from the cloudy skies until Wednesday. However, the weather bureau said swollen streams are slowly receding and will continue to do so.

RAIN FORECAST

Its forecast said that rainfall today and Tuesday would measure one to two inches or more and that if such a fall developed in eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island there might be further rises in streams in that area.

Connecticut, which bore the brunt of the August floods, was hardest hit by the newest disaster, especially the eastern coastal area of the state where hundreds of homes and industries were inundated.

Colombo Plan Delegates Cheer Pearson, Canada's Contribution

By C. R. BLACKBURN
SINGAPORE (CP)—Canada's L. B. Pearson was applauded today at the opening session of the Colombo plan conference when he said his country had been proud to contribute in the past to the plan for aiding under-developed Asian areas, and would want to continue its participation.

The "unique venture" has been successful since its inception at a Commonwealth conference in the Ceylon capital in 1951, and would be more successful in the future.

The Canadian external affairs minister was the second speaker at the committee conference opened.

The meeting will decide the future of the plan, and the decision is certain to be its continuation with the same or probably larger contributions and some additional aids such as Canada's gift of an NRX reactor to India.

Pearson said events since the plan began had probably exceeded the expectations even of its most confident supporters. But he reminded the ministers:

"We should not forget that our ways of living, the systems of society which we have chosen, must in order to develop, or even to survive, prove their spiritual values as well as their material effectiveness."

Canadians, though far from south and southeast Asia, liked to feel that their experience in economic and political development—from a colony by evolution to a state within a Commonwealth based on more than one race—was not too different from those which faced many countries in the Colombo plan area.

Bilateral negotiations had enabled a substantial contribution to be made to welfare and prosperity in south and southeast Asia. Uncertainties still existed and heavy tasks remained, but steady progress had been achieved in "prompting human well-being."

"I'm certain that history will record that the Colombo plan has made a significant and lasting contribution to the economic welfare of south and southeast Asia," Pearson said.

Margaret, Peter Dine, Disregarding Critics

(UP and CP Dispatches)

LONDON—Princess Margaret, disregarding criticism by Anglican clergymen, went off to dine with Peter Townsend again tonight after their return from a week-end in Windsor.

The princess met Townsend for dinner at the Victoria Road home of one of her former escorts, Mark Bonham Carter.

The action seemed to make it doubly plain that the dashing airman is Margaret's steady beau.

The princess motored at noon today to Clarence House from the 20-room house in Windsor forest where she and Townsend were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wills. Mrs. Wills is the daughter of Lady Elphinstone, sister of the Queen Mother.

A photograph taken of Margaret just after she had said goodbye to Townsend caused widespread comment. Her face was sad and pensive—near tears, many thought.

It was a stern, unsmiling princess who whisked into Clarence House in the big limousine after a 20-mile drive from the country. She made no acknowledgement to the waving crowd of about 300 persons clustered outside the house. Inside her mother awaited her, having arrived earlier from Windsor.

Townsend, after his usual morning gallop on horseback, told reporters today that he had a "very nice" week-end.

And that was the closest anyone came to an authoritative statement on the plans of the 40-year-old ex-fighter pilot and the princess whose attachment, complicated by apparent religious and constitutional obstacles, has caused a world to wonder.

Townsend remained at the Wills home for two hours after Margaret left. Then he drove out of the lodge and headed for London and his flat at the home of the Marquis of Abergavenny in Lowndes square.

One common interpretation of the week-end rendezvous was

Vessel Abandoned North of Pt. Alberni

A Victoria-registered fishing vessel is missing and believed sunk off Bajo Point, 150 miles north of Port Alberni.

Mystery surrounds the fate of those on board as an RCAF air-sea rescue plane combed the area for signs of wreckage or survivors.

It is not known how many were on board. The ship, believed to be the "A.E.H." sent a "mayday" call at 7 p.m. Sunday, saying "we are abandoning ship off Bajo Reef."

The call did not give the name of the vessel or the reason for the distress call. But the B.C. Packers' fishpinner Dinty Moore reported seeing the A.E.H. in the vicinity about 4 p.m. Sunday. Water was calm at the time, with fog patches.

FROM CEEPEECE

The registry of Canadian shipping lists the A.E.H. as a Victoria-registered vessel, owned by Hugh Gordon, fisherman, who lives at Ceepeece.

The RCAF search plane, a Canco amphibian, searched the area Sunday evening until fog closed in. The plane resumed the search at 10 a.m. today.

The Canadian government lighthouse tender Estevan, based at Victoria, also picked up the "mayday" message and relayed it to Air-Sea Rescue in Vancouver.

Reports that wreckage had been sighted in the area by the Dinty Moore have not been confirmed.

The A.E.H. is equipped with radio telephone, but shore stations have not been able to receive her since the distress call at 7 p.m.

'DELIBERATE AFFRONT' CLERIC TELLS MOTHERS

MARGATE, England (Reuters)—A retired canon of the Church of England today described a possible marriage between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend as "deliberately an affront both to religion and the church."

Canon C. T. Kirtland, 68, made the statement before 1,800 members of the Mothers' Union, a church organization, at their annual convention here.

Answering written questions, he picked up one about the princess' reported romance and declared:

"I would yield to no one in my loyalty to the Queen and the Royal Family. I think my feeling about the whole thing is one of profound sorrow."

"Here is somebody who is very dear to our hearts. Here she contemplates doing something which is deliberately an affront both to religion and the church."

"I do not see what line the church can take. The less we gossip about it the better."

Romance Principals Stroll Arm-in-Arm, in Secluded Garden

BINFIELD, England (Reuters)—Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend Sunday evening strolled arm-in-arm around the lawns of the secluded country mansion here where they have been spending the week-end.

Margaret and the man that many believe she will marry appeared completely relaxed and oblivious to long-range cameras trained on them by press photographers.

Later they could be seen on a rose-entwined terrace where they played with a small dog.

Margaret wore a three-quarter-length brown coat. Townsend was informal in a black sweater and grey trousers.

As the bright fall sunshine faded and a chill breeze came up, they went slowly into the house.

Early Sunday, Margaret, her mother beside her, knelt to pray in the little royal chapel tucked away in the trees of Windsor great park. Townsend did not accompany them.

After the short service, Margaret and Queen Mother, Elizabeth, walked through the woods to the royal lodge where the Queen Mother is staying, 10 miles from here.

Before Margaret drove back to Allanby Lodge, the princess had a long talk with her mother, music.
